TIGER WOMAN PROMISES TO CLEAR MYSTERY

Clara Phillips Asserts She Will Tell Details of Escape From Jail

BULLETIN

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess," was returned to American soil here early this afternoon. She was closely guarded by detectives, as the boat from Honduras, where she was caught, docked at a pier folding a great crowd of curious people.

ABOARD Steamship Copan En Route From Puerto Cortez, Honduras, to New Orleans, La., May 29.—As the sun rose to brighten the "land of the free" today, Clara Phillips, notorious "hammer slayer" of California, nervously paced the decks of the Copan looking intently at her native land—the land that spells imprisonment for life to her, unless the unforeseen happens.

The New Orleans fruit boat which left Puerto Cortez Saturday, arrived at the quarantine station shortly before dawn and after inspection sailed on up the Mississippi to New Orleans. From there the "tiger woman" of the western coast will be rushed to California, the scene of her crime, where a prison cell awaits her return.

Mrs. Phillips declared that when she reaches there a sensational statement will be made—a statement which will reveal the "true hammer murderess," and establish beyond a doubt her innocence. She also insinuated she will disclose the identity of accomplices who aided her in making one of the most sensational jail breaks in the history of America.

Says She's Innocent

Since leaving Puerto Cortez she has been persistent in maintaining her innocence and declared the "world will know her true story before long."

The captured woman, although admitted to be one of the cleverest and most dangerous prisoners officials have dealt with in many a day, was allowed free deck privileges from the little Honduran port.

"She was in good spirits and excellent health all the way," declared Captain Larsen of the Copan. As the boat sailed slowly up the river and the shores of her homeland again enveloped her, the woman slayer was removed to a place of confinement. Officials admit that there is a "ring" that will go the limit to make her escape possible and every precaution is being taken to prevent another break for freedom.

When the fruit vessel docked a cordon of officers was on hand to hold back the large crowd of curious spectators while Mrs. Phillips was spirited to a place of

Senator Raps Harding On World Court Plan

RALEIGH, N. C., May 29.—The world needs to get back to work more than anything else, and President Harding should immediately call a world econmic conference to devise ways and means of bringing this about, Senator Roy S. Copeland, Democrat, of New York, declared here today in an address to the graduating class at North Carolina state college.

President Harding has "missed his opportunity," Senator Copeland said, in proposing the world court.

"He has given the world a crust, when he could have given it a loaf," said Copeland.

"Can a world court heal broken hearts, feed the hungry, restore the sick, remove the fear of starvation and ruin, give work to those who would labor, and wipe out the hatred of all the races of men?"

Jap Protest on Dry Ruling Reaches Envoy

TOKIO, May 29.—Japan's representations opposing the recent dry law interpretation of the United States supreme court against foreign ships were stated today to be in the hands of Ambassador Hanihara and their presentation to Secretary of State Hughes imminent.

An important figure in Japanese shipping circles said that the Japanese take it for granted that the interpretation against even locked bars in American waters will be withdrawn and said Japanese interests had hardly given it serious consideration as yet, believing treaty changes would be necessary before its international application could be arranged.

Ask Council To Eliminate Jog At Palmer And Adams

A petition requesting the elimination of a portion of the jog at the intersection of Palmer avenue and Adams street and the establishment of a public square at this location was received and laid on the table last night by the City Council.

"I believe this petition will justify the council in ordering the proceedings," stated a formal communication from City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy. "It is a very desirable improvement and, if the people in the district benefited are willing to pay for it, I think the City Council should do everything in its power to carry the proceedings through."

The petition was signed by the following property owners: C. W. Brewer, Mary E. Lindsay, T. R. Everman, T. R. Whiting, T. A. Rucker, U. S. Ward, W. F. Wiley, George F. Ragatz, J. J. Weeks, E. Etranberg, Ralph Cook, Hugh K. Elmond, L. E. Olson, P. A. Olson, Mrs. J. Z. Zizer, Mrs. L. G. Baker, George P. McFarland, Mrs. E. R. Hamilton, John F. Priehs, Charlotte Dusenberg, Helen A. Colen, Mabel F. Parker, L. Balzhizer, Edward F. Baldwin, John Weeks, E. W. Wollsey, and Mrs. C. H. Mossberg.

Mayor Spencer Robinson remarked that the city administration had gotten over the habit of buying public parks. Other members of the City Council expressed their disapproval of the project and it was indicated that it would not be approved in its present form.

Dog Vaccination Ordinance Offered By Mayor Robinson

A new "dog ordinance" was introduced by Mayor Spencer Robinson at last night's session of the City Council. This provides that all dogs at large which do not carry special tags indicating that they have been vaccinated against rabies shall be held for forty-eight hours at the pound and then destroyed unless the owner agrees to have them vaccinated at once.

"Whenever it is shown that any dog in the city of Glendale has bitten any person," says the ordinance, "it shall be the duty of the owner or person having the custody or control of such dog to immediately notify the police department of such occurrence.

"This ordinance is necessary as an emergency measure for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety for the reason that there are now many dogs in the city of Glendale suffering from rabies and there is great danger of the spreading of such disease to other dogs and of inoculating human beings therewith."

Violation of the ordinance is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $100 or a term of not more than fifty days in jail.

SHANGHAI, May 29.—While two army airplanes scout cautiously over the heights of Paot-Zuku, parleys for the release of the foreign prisoners of the Shantung bandits continue in the valley below.

The planes are being used not as a method of attack but as a precaution against the fear that the bandits will attempt to leave Paot-kuku and carry their captives to the inaccessible Taishan mountains to the north.

The Peking government has wired peremptory orders to Tuchun Tien of Shantung province to accomplish the release of the captives within ten days.

Lee Solomon, San Francisco automobile man who is one of the captives in the "sky" prison of the bandits, sent out a note today in which he said:

"Our chief amusement is Mah Jongg tournaments with the bandit chiefs. We Americans are beating the Chinese at their own game."

This commission, made up of General Connor, representing the United States, and high officers of France, England, Italy and Japan, will make a thorough investigation of the bandit and military situation in the Licheng area. The Chinese government disregarded a protest of Military Over-Lord Wu Pei Fu.

L. A. ARCHITECTS AWARD PRIZES

Security Housing Co. Offers $50 Prize for Estimate On Winning Design

The house designing contest that was staged by the Security Housing Corporation, 144-A South Brand boulevard, and that resulted in the submission of more than fifty plans for homes to cost around $4500, was decided by the judges last night at the exposition, the winners being Alfred Harrison, 1; C. W. Lemmon, 2; R. D. MacPherson, 3; and Louis Korn, 4, with Joe Estep and Rodney D. McClelland winning special mention. All of the winners are residents of Los Angeles.

The awards were made by D. C. Allison, Frank J. Hudson and Pierpont Davis, three well known Los Angeles architects.

H. T. Tuttle, in charge of the firm's exhibit here, states that there has arisen a difference of opinion as to whether the design that was awarded first prize could be built for the $4500 limit placed on the entrants in the contest, and to settle this point an estimate will be made by an expert builder on the cost required to erect the house. This estimate will be sealed and placed in one of the local banks, and an opportunity will be offered to anyone to enter an estimate in the contest that is to be held. The entrant coming closest to the figures compiled by the firm's estimator will be awarded a prize of $50, which is to be given away at 10 p. m., Saturday, June 2.

REPARATIONS PLAN FROM BELGIUM

Proposes Scheme to France In Hope of Settling German Trouble

PARIS, May 29.—Belgium has proposed a reparations plan to France by which 2,400,000,000 gold marks (approximately $588,000,000), would be collected annually from Germany. The Matin revealed today. France now has the scheme under consideration.

It was suggested by Belgium that:

First—Germany balance her budget by selling her foreign exchange.

Second—German railroads be exploited internationally for the benefit of the inter-allied reparations commission, it being estimated that 1,900,000,000 gold marks could be realized annually in this way.

Third—All the profits from German coal mines be turned to the reparations fund, experts claiming that this would bring in 500,000,000 gold marks yearly.

Fourth—Reparations commission would take a quarter of the stock in all German corporations, obtaining one-quarter of the dividends.

Fifth — Reparations commission would take over German government monopolies upon tobacco, alcohol and sugar.

Sixth—Abolish the blockade to permit Germans themselves to exploit the Rhineland and Ruhr for the benefit of the reparations account.

French and Belgian troops would remain in the Ruhr under the Belgian plan, but only as a guaranty, not interfering with the Germans.

Notorious Bandit Is Caught in Oklahoma

DENVER, May 29.—Denver police officials this morning announced the capture Monday at McAlester, Ok., of Roy Sherrill, nationally known gunman, train robber and an escaped convict from the Leavenworth (Kan.) federal penitentiary.

Sherrill was said to be one of the ringleaders of the famous Lewis-Jones gang of mail robbers and murderers which terrorized Colorado Springs and Denver for two days and nights in September, 1918.

In June, 1918, Sherrill was one of the gang that robbed the M. K. & T. train at Paola, Kan., for which crime he was convicted and sentenced to twenty-five years at Leavenworth. In June, 1922, he escaped, and nothing was heard from him until the Denver mint robbery last winter, when it was claimed that he had been identified as a member of that gang. A nationwide hunt for Sherrill was instituted, but no trace of him was found until his arrest Monday in Oklahoma.

Record Crowd To Attend Contest Of Speed Kings

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—Thousands of speed fans were today pouring into this city, justifying the prediction that, with fair weather tomorrow, a record crowd of 125,000 persons will be assembled to watch the speed kings compete on the speedway here.

Advance seat sales have exceeded all previous records, it was announced today.

Twenty-two cars have qualified in the trials and four more took the bricks today. It was probable that the entry list would number 26.

Much interest is being shown in the three German Mercedes cars, which are the only cars entered having room for mechanicians, the rest being single seaters.

Ralph De Palma and Joe Boyer, veteran drivers both, were among the last to qualify. They took their Packards around the oval at an average speed of 100.42 miles and 98.8 miles an hour, respectively.

The three Deusenbergs were scheduled to make their time trials today. They were rushed to completion and have had no warming up. One French bugatti also remains to qualify.

The competition from foreign entrants this year is expected to be keener than ever before, but the honors of Uncle Sam were also to be well taken care of.

Tommy Milton, driving an H. C. S. Special, with a Miller motor, averaging 108.17 miles per hour, made the best time for the ten-mile speed trial. The German Mercedes driven by Werner made the fastest time of the foreign entrants.

City To Condemn Lots For Location Of New S. P. Depot

The City Council last night discussed the location of the new station of the Southern Pacific.

A motion was introduced by Councilman W. A. Horn, seconded by Councilman Asa Hall and carried, that City Attorney Ray Morrow should prepare the necessary legal proceedings for the condemnation of two lots between the southern end of Cerritos avenue and the railroad right-of-way. These are owned by George J. Stewart of 1655 Gardena avenue.

S. S. Gilhuly of 342 El Bonita avenue opopsed this action on the ground that the condemnation of these two lots would cost the city $20,000, which, when added to the general tax levy, as proposed by the City Council, could not help affecting next year's taxes. He said that a large number of people in Southern Glendale preferred to have the new depot built at the end of Eulalia street, as originally intended.

Coming Marriage

Of great interest to a large circle of friends was the announcement of the coming marriage of Miss Charlotte Murl Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bowen, of 212 West Garfield, to A. Edward Clauson, of Upland on June 20.

At a delightful affair given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rushworth, 445 west Garfield, the announcement was made first to the Camp Fire Girls, of Na Wa Kah Moka Troop of which Miss Bowen was assistant guardian last year. Around a table on which were various symbols of camp fire activities developed in camp fire colors of yellow and black, the members gathered and drew tiny yellow heart-shaped cards, on which were pictures of Miss Bowen and Mr. Clauson.

The camp fire girls responded nobly to the emergency and produced a clothes basket laden with all necessary kitchen utensils and presented them with the following toast:

Murl, dear girl, you are taking a whirl
In the sea of Matrimony.
We hope that the journey may not be rough, and the skies be blue and sunny.
May the current run smoothly for you, may breakers and billows be few.
A life of contentment and plenty be thine, upheld by the Spirit of Love Divine,
Is the wish of the Camp Fire Girls.

At nine o'clock the Philathea Class of the Central avenue Methodist church, of which Miss Bowen is a member, appeared on the scene and showered the bride-to-be with many beautiful gifts.

A pretty pink and white color scheme was used to decorate the rooms which was further carried out in the refreshments which consisted of brick ice cream with pink hearts in the center, and wafers.

Music and games were the diversion of the evening.

Miss Bowen has resided in Glendale three years and has identified herself with the community life, being active in campfire and church circles. Mr. Clauson has a ranch at Uplands.

The camp fire girls present were Misses Wilma Hunt, Alma Mae Hunt, Irene Wallace, Pearl Mentzer, Madaline Corbin, Thelma Grote, Norma Martin, Ethel Leash, Louise Cox, Janice Tuttle, Carol Eighmy, Eleanor Beckard, Dorothy Newton, Marjorie Priaulx, and other guests, Mrs. Elsie Moore, Mrs. Carrie L. THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Famous Mrs. Fair," now showing at the Glendale Theatre, tells the story of a woman's decision as between fame and fireside. The play, as written by the great dramatist, James Forbes, was an outstanding stage success.

The film version, as directed by Fred Niblo, bids fair to be as outstanding a success in its own department of drama. Niblo, who is famous for his direction of the masterpiece, "Blood and Sand," feels that "The Famous Mrs. Fair" is his greatest picture since that achievement.

The story is of a woman actuated by duty, who engages in war work, and continues, after the peace, her activities, only to learn that her duty to her family comes first.

Congressman Walter F. Lineberger of Long Beach has written to Captain D. Ripley Jackson that he will be the latter's guest on Thursday, during which time he will spend part of the day visiting the Industrial Exposition. Captain Jackson and Congressman Lineberger are friends of long standing and it was largely due to the latter's efforts that the proposed change in the personnel of the local postoffice staff was halted before the local system was crippled.

Frosts were recorded for practically every month from 1812 to 1816 in the vicinity of Toronto, Canada.

COMMENT

That's All

Ten Cents Is One Dime
Americans' Good Time
Wonders Of The Ages
"Buy It In Glendale"

By Gil A. Cowan

SOMEBODY suggested we write comment in the Glendale Industrial Exposition tent and tell the people how the noise sounded.

Therefore, we sallied forth to The Glendale Evening News office at the exposition and "listened in" on the racket.

"Just a minute," cried the spieler. "It's alive," barked another. "Let me out," said a helpless victim of the jamb. "Number twelve," called another to the winner of some sort of a prize.

"All right," came a voice from the big tent. "Come and see this for a dime," said another. "Hot dog," was another cry. "Only ten cents," ad infinitum.

It would seem from all of the jumbled voices that a dime is the American's idea of a good time. Anything more or less in price and they are suspecting.

Perhaps that is the reason for the success of the five and ten cent stores in this country.

You can learn any number of things from an exposition like that being held in Glendale this week. Best of all you can see "us mortals" as we really are when we relax for a good time.

There is something about the carnival spirit that causes sedate business people to step up to the wheel games and take a chance.

But one dear old lady insisted that her conscience would not let her guess on the number of beans in The Glendale Evening News "seedless orange" which is one of the attractions.

Really, we had to admire her steadfastness, yet she wasn't getting all of the enjoyment to be had for nothing, we know. And surely she wasn't getting any thrills that would cost her conscience anything.

Leaving all of the fun aside, the Glendale Industrial Exposition does much to acquaint the general public with many of the fine points of the business life of the city with which they come in daily contact and yet know so little about.

The Glendale State Bank, for instance, has a display of the complicated bookkeeping machines used to tabulate your account, which are a revelation for efficiency. And the workings of this, that and the other machine are made plain by practical demonstrators.

Enough animals to stock a circus also are to be found scattered about in the various shows. The lion farm is one of the most unique attractions and the writer has to hear of anyone not being satisfied with their investment of ten cents to see the various wonders of the ages.

Everything from good food to sweetly scented soap is to be sampled. Some of the most extraordinary fashions are paraded, delightful furniture, practical housekeeping utensils, the wonders of the radio, and what not, are to be seen at the Exposition.

It is our injunction that over the holiday you take the kiddies along with you and enjoy a full day seeing what Glendale really means to you as a shopping center. It is unfolded under the canvas of the exposition.

The prime object of this exposition, as we understand it, is to introduce the merchants to the public. They are there eager to greet you and your friends.

"Buy in Glendale" is the slogan of each and every one. And if you know what Glendale has, there is no question but what you will decide to see the stores from which these wonderful exhibits are brought forth.

That's our impression and comment on The Glendale Industrial Exposition.

Glendalians Inspect Ruins at Mexicali

The ruins of Mexicali were visited over the week-end by Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Beran and Mr. and Mrs. B. Custer of Glendale.

According to Mr. Beran, the ruins were still smouldering and a number of Chinese were still "dizzy" from the effects of the catastrophe. He stated that the gutters were running with beer, wine and whisky which had attracted about five billion flies. He said that several opium dens had been disclosed.

TUJUNGA

POPPY DAY IS HELD AT TUJUNGA

Dozens of Blossoms Are Sold By Young Folks; Take Movie Scenes

Tujunga observed "Poppy Day" by blossoming out in a blaze of red that was brilliantly apparent all day Saturday. Many dozens of the blossoms were sold by school girls and women. The blood-red blossoms blazed from the lapels and bodies of those who have not forgotten the boys who came back from the battle fields of France handicapped by some physical defect. The poppies, made by the widows and orphans of soldiers, were for sale at ten cents each, but few were the dimes that were offered for them. More often it was a quarter, half dollar and even dollars found their way into the baskets, for the purchasers ever had in mind that the proceeds were to go toward assisting disabled American soldiers, under the direction of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Dan Warnick, dog fancier and proprietor of Tujunga's leading tonsorial parlor, has entered three of his collies in the dog show to be held at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles on Friday and Saturday, June 8 and 9. His entries are "Trixie Girl, Third," Warnick's Pride" and Buddy Boy."

Pictures of Children

The first of a series of motion pictures was taken Friday when Ralph Perronet took scenes of the school children's parade through the business section. The Verdugo Hills Business Association has endorsed a plan to make a series of pictures of Tujunga and vicinity for exhibition purposes.

The scheme is endorsed by the business people in the belief that it will be of great advertising value, as the pictures will be shown throughout Southern California. Mr. Perronet is experienced in the picture game and has a wide acquaintance in the industry and will be able to get the pictures shown at all the leading picture houses.

Other scenes to be taken will include Mt. McGroarty, the business section, Garden of the Moon and the scenic points of interest in the Verdugo hills.

The business men are subscribing the funds and the list so far includes the following: Millet Smith, A. C. Stover, H. Leon Harvey, Kilbourn and Sylva, Thomas F. Owens, Bloore Dry Goods Company, J. W. Forster, Tujunga Lumber and Supply Company, G. B. Patterson, J. H. Kautz, Record-Ledger of the Verdugo Hills, Otto F. Fehlhaber, George Aiken, Garden of the Moon, Tujunga Garage, Harmony Bakery, C. N. Baker, P. J. Reihm, A. J. Scribnear, W. J. Buckley, John R. James, Leo L. Lang, Tujunga Valley Bank, Bruce Anawalt, Taylor and Davis, W. H. Dewitt, Charles H. Kellar, Sam J. Taylor, Smith Borthers, J. M. Goode, George C. Buck and the Tujunga Paint and Paper Company. Others are joining the movement and the subscriptions are growing.

The "Tribe of Ben Hur," a fraternal organization of which Ben B. Jones is state manager, is contemplating organizing a local camp at Tujunga, acording to local people who hold memberships in the order. The order is fraternal and beneficial and the ritual is based on Lew Wallace's novel.

REDUCE PRICES INTO EXPOSITION

Merchants' Association Asks Cut in Admission Prices At Meeting

The question of lowering the price of admission to the Industrial Exposition came up at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Merchants' association in the Citizens' building yesterday, and it was urged that the prices at present charged at the gate be reduced. Owen C. Emery, president of the association, was appointed to take the matter up with the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and at a meeting of the latter organization last night the project was given the approval of the board.

It has been decided to admit everyone during the afternoon at 10 cents, and in the evening at the present price of 25 cents. Coupon books that are still on sale may be purchased at $1, bearing the 10-cent admission tickets, and that carry a chance on the automobiles to be given away and children will be admitted at every performance at 10 cents.

Plans for the annual picnic of the Merchants' association were discussed and preliminary arrangements were made to hold the affair on a scale that would be in keeping with the importance of the organization, but no definite date has yet been set for the picnic.

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the association will be held Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

Routine work took up the attention of the members during part of the time devoted to the meeting.

Street Car Team Wins Twilight Ball Game

The P. E. Electrics took one away from the High School Students last night on the grounds of the Twilight Baseball league, at the Glendale Union High school, to the tune of 23 to 13.

The funny part of the affray was that the Students were in the lead until the final inning, when the Electrics slipped over a little matter of eleven runs.

R. Ernest Tucker, Community Service executive, who is directing the Twilight league schedule, states that the Methodist church team will contest with the Postmen tonight.

There will be no game on Memorial Day.

Thursday night the Firemen will do battle with Jesse Smith's Fords, and Friday night the City and the Legion will clash.

BOY SCOUTS PAY COMRADE HONORS

Farewell Tribute Rendered At Flower Heaped Grave Of Robert Searle

At the Little Church of the Flowers, Monday afternoon, May 28, 1923, over fifty Glendale Boy Scouts, together with Scoutmasters and executives of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout Council, gathered to pay a farewell tribute to "a real Scout, a true Christian citizen and a highly valued friend of boyhood"—Robert M. Searle, who died last Saturday morning, May 26.

There by the flower-heaped grave the Boy Scout guard of honor and the pall-bearers, all of whom had been closely associated with Robert in his troop, formed a half-circle; and in the presence of all his friends, they gave the Scout Oath for their brother Scout.

Rev. O. P. Rider then gave the benediction, after which Floyd Craft lifted his bugle and "Taps" echoed farewell over the green hillside.

The services were in charge of Rev. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Active in Troop

On May 7, 1916, at the age of 12, he joined Troop No. 1, Glendale (Tropico), Boy Scouts of America, and had been affiliated with the troop actively even up to the last. He served in practically every office in the troop including Scribe, Treasurer, Assistant Patrol Leader, Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader and at the time of his death he was serving as Assistant Scoutmaster. He worked unduly hard when a Scout and achieved the highest rank that can be conferred on any boy belonging to the Boy Scouts of America, that of Eagle Scout. It is largely through his efforts that Troop No. 1 claims and has the honor of being the oldest standing troop of Boy Scouts in the state of California, for all during his seven years of service in the Boy Scout Movement he has held his troop together against every obstacle and discouragement.

In the first part of 1922 he became Assistant Scoutmaster and his immediate success as a scout leader was due to his complete understanding of boy nature and a personality which enabled him to lead. The boys all loved and respected him and the community was watching with pride the commendable work he was doing.

While on a hike with his troop on Saturday, May 19, he acted very peculiarly and Hal E. Leedom, another Assistant Scoutmaster of the troop, decided that he had better be sent home. His condition was not considered real serious until Sunday evening, when he became very delirious and rapidly grew worse, until it was thought best to send him to a Los Angeles hospital. In spite of every medical care and the kindly ministrations of his friends and his dear mother, he died at 1 o'clock, Saturday morning, May 26, just one week after taking ill. Although stocky in body his mind broke down his rigid constitution.

Was Church Member

Robert had just recently joined the Presbyterian church, where he had planned to take an active part in the young people's activities. He took life seriously and was a person with whom responsibility could be trusted.

The following resolution was passed by the Executive Board of the Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America:

RESOLVED, That in the sudden and untimely death of Robert M. Searle, Assistant Scoutmaster, Troop No. 1, Glendale, both the Boy Scouts and all Glendale have suffered an irreparable loss.

RESOLVED, That we recognize in him a promising young man who was a thorough Christian and one of the most competent leaders of boys we have ever seen, and one whose place it will be difficult to fill.

RESOLVED, That while we bow in submission to the Master's will, we extend to his dear, brave mother and brothers and sister our deep and heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sadness, and commend them to the loving care of the Master.

A. R. EASTMAN, President
For the Executive Board
Verdugo Hills District Council
Boy Scouts of America.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Great Scoutmaster has seen fit in His wisdom to call from our midst a real Scout, a true Christian citizen, and highly valued friend of boyhood, in the death of Robert M. Searle, and

WHEREAS, A great vacancy has been created in the ranks of our Scout leaders, and

WHEREAS, The boyhood of Glendale has lost one of its staunchest friends, and the boys of Glendale are deeply appreciative of the effort our brother made to give boys a chance to grow into sturdy Christian manhood, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That in the death of Robert M. Searle we have lost a brother who was all that a young man should be, faithful in his own duties, true to his Christian faith and a powerful influence among boys. Be it further

RESOLVED, That the Troop Leaders' Roundtable of the Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America, on behalf of all the Scout leaders and boys under their supervision, express our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Searle and the brothers and sister, in their bereavement.

H. B. ROBISON, Chief Councilor

MANY DIE IN BIG TEXAS OIL FIRE

Fourteen Men Lose Lives In Serious Blaze

A spark caused by the clashing of two bits of metal as crews of men were trying to cap the Hughes oil well gusher, near Kearns, Texas, set the gas and oil afire, fourteen men being burned to death. The well burned for days, the heat making it impossible to approach it, until men wearing asbestos suits managed to drag out the charred bodies. Sixteen boilers were rigged to pour live steam and smother the fire. Although spectators were kept back 500 yards by the heat, P. J. Howe, a newspaper photographer, of Fort Worth, ran to within thirty feet of the fire and took this picture at the risk of his life. His clothes were burned off. Note the density of the high-spouting flames.

FEAR PLOT TO FREE MURDERESS

Authorities Admit There Is 'Ring' Ready to Aid in Slayer's Escape

Fear Rescue Attempt

It was feared a desperate attempt might be made to free her while in New Orleans and it is no secret among authorities that the arm which made possible her freedom once before is a strong arm and may extend over many miles. The same guarded precautions will be taken by Under Sheriff Biscailuz of Los Angeles until he and his notorious woman prisoner reach their destination.

En route to New Orleans Mrs. Phillips has hinted at love complications which led to the crime of which she has been convicted but refused to divulge details. It is rumored among those with whom she has been thrown in close contact that her story "will involve celebrities of more than one nation."

Unless plans are changed she will start her return journey to Los Angeles late today.

Sacrifices Freedom

ON BOARD S. S. COPAN, En Route, New Orleans, from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, May 29.—Looking out over the lowlands of Louisiana for the first time since her sensational escape from a California prison several months ago, Clara Phillips, notorious California "hammer murderess," today broke down and told how she had sacrificed her freedom for her honor.

"I know people won't believe it," she sobbed, "but I am returning to a grim prison life because I thought more of my honor than my freedom.

"No, there's no need of going into details. You know, a woman has no chance when the entire world is pointing scornful fingers toward her and crying, 'See the hammer murderess! See the tiger woman!' Oh, it's awful.

"Well, it will be simply this: A high Honduran official offered me my complete freedom and safety from American officials if I would consent to become the mistress of his palatial mansion. Although his offer burned me deeply, I suppose nothing other could be expected for a woman who is known the world over as a murderess.

Sends Special Envoy

"Even when I boarded the Copan, the Honduran sent a special envoy of guards out to see me and ask if I would not reconsider my decision before it was entirely too late. But I would rather be in a prison cell of America with my honor than in Honduras with my freedom and the other.

"One word would have set me free from the dingy bars of prison but it would have cost my self-respect."

Looking enviously at the smooth waters of the Mississippi which were peacefully gliding beneath the boat, she said:

"And to think I am so young. It wouldn't be so bad if I had but a few years to face all this notorious publicity, but then I am still young. Regardless of where I go people will ever know me and tell their friends of the 'hammer murderess.' That awful name 'the tiger woman!' Wherever did they apply that name to me?"

Only One Implicated

"Oh," she replied in answer to a question. "I am not going to be in prison for the rest of my life. I shall prove my complete innocence in a short while and I know that if God is as good and just as I think, He will see me brought through this. People are now pointing me out and remarking that I am pleading innocence since they dragged me back to America. But they will know the truth, before so very long."

When asked who aided her in the sensational escape from the California jail, she declared that Jesse Carson was the only one implicated.

"Yes, Carson set me free," she said. "And he also cost me my liberty. I would not be returning to America now had it not been for his foolish and selfish actions."

The interview was then interrupted by Under-Sheriff Biscailuz of Los Angeles.

Dogmatism Is Fetter, Declares Dr. Fareed

"To be dogmatic about anything is to be bound by the strongest of fetters," asserted Dr. Amen U. Fareed Sunday morning at the Church of Divine Realization.

"Only by keeping an open mind can we ever hope to know the truth that shall make us free," he continued. "The world at large does not want the truth. It is so much easier to hold on to what somebody said was truth than to investigate.

"The worst foes are those within. If equal energy was expended on building high ideals in individual souls as has been devoted to outward betterment, the nations would be much further along in their evolution. Christ meant literally what He said to the forty-fourth verse of St. Matthew: Learning to love an enemy actually secures a wonderful release and gives to the soul a feeling of glorious freedom."

MARCHING WITH THE LEGION

Distribution of more than 2,500,000 French silk poppies to the American Legion posts in this country is under the charge of E. O. Marquette, director of the national emblem division of the American Legion.

The poppy, hallowed from its war associations, will be worn by patriotic citizens on Memorial Day in honor of the World War dead. Members of the American Legion and its auxiliary will sell the flowers to raise funds for the decoration of graves of overseas dead, for service and relief work among disabled and needy veterans and for war memorials.

Panama Canal Post No. 1 of the American Legion made substantial recognition of the relief work conducted by the American Red Cross on the isthmus. One-half of the proceeds of a carnival held by the Legionnaires, amounting to $1,250, was allotted to the Red Cross by the organization of ex-service men.

More than $23,000 in compensation to disabled and needy veterans has been obtained by the service division of the Indiana department of the American Legion since January 1. The service division also recovered $4,695 that had been misappropriated by the guardians of five former service men and obtained 600 jobs for veterans in co-operation with the Red Cross.

American Legion members in St. Louis are endeavoring to obtain the release from prison of Charles S. Morrison, who received a distinguished service cross through prison bars. Morrison, who is serving a term in the city workhouse for alleged wife and child abandonment, was cited for exceptional bravery for volunteering to rescue a comrade under heavy shell fire at Charey, France, September 30, 1918.

A $400,000 city-hall and recretional building to be erected by citizens of Virginia, Minn., will be dedicated on Memorial Day to World War veterans by the J. Burt Pratt post of the American Legion.

E. O. Marquette

The West Virginia legislature has indorsed the Americanism program of the American Legion in that state by enacting into legislation three bills sponsored by the legion. The measures provide that the American flag shall be displayed from every schoolhouse in the state during the times the schools are in session, that in all public, private, parochial and denominational schools there shall be given regular courses of instruction in the history of the United States, in civics and the constitution of the United States and the state of West Virginia, and that every school teacher shall be required to take an oath of allegiance to support the constitution of the United States and the state of West Virginia, before entering upon the duties of teaching.

POEMS THAT LIVE

DOMESTIC PEACE

Why should such gloomy silence reign,
And why is all the house so drear,
When neither danger, sickness, pain,
Nor death, nor want, have entered here?

We are as many as we were
That other night, when all were gay
And full of hope, and free from care;
Yet is there something gone away?

The moon without, as pure and calm,
Is shining as that night she shone;
But now to us she brings no balm,
For something from our hearts is gone.

Something whose absence leaves a void—
A cheerless want in every heart;
Each feels the bliss of all destroyed,
And mourns the change—but each apart.

The fire is burning in the grate
As redly as it used to burn;
But still the heart is desolate,
Till mirth, and love, and peace return.

'Twas peace that flowed from heart to heart
With looks and smiles that spoke of heaven,
And gave us language to impart
The blissful thoughts itself had given.

Domestic peace! best joy of earth,
When shall we all thy value learn?
White angel, to our sorrowing hearth,
Return, oh, graciously return.

Building Arena for Shelby Battle, July 4

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 29.—The steady thump of a hundred hammers amid the flying sawdust of as many saws have dissipated in the public mind any doubt as to the ultimate completion of the huge arena, being erected to accommodate many thousands that are expected to attend the Dempsey-Gibbons world's heavyweight title bout to be staged at Shelby July 4.

Martin & Humphries, contractors, have been at work on the large structure but one week, and it is taking definite shape and is now claimed that within thrty days it will be ready for the huge crowds. Eighty thousand dollars is the approximate cost of the arena.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Advertisement.

In The Spotlight Of Sport — By WOOD COWAN

College athletics of all brands are getting too strenuous for the average growing boy—so thorough, in fact, that the fun and joy of most games is lost in the serious business of scientific conditioning of the athlete, and the driving stactics used by coaches to acquire efficiency with their teams.

And rowing, more than any other sport, requires good coaching. To produce a winning "eight" the boys must be trained to attain perfect machine-like rhythm in every move. One slight mishap will throw the whole combination off enough to lose a race.

Some of our oldest coaches in college athletics are specialists in the art of teaching pulling an oar.

Yale this season has a new man at the helm, guiding her marine destinies. It is the beginning of the regime of Ed Leader, who has been turning out winning crews consistently at Washington State University.

Last June the Leader system of "stiff back" rowing about wrecked the navy's hopes at Poughkeepsie, where the mighty Annapolis eight had the battle of their lives to head the western huskies across the finish line.

Yale has had three coaches in two years of disastrous rowing, too, we might add, although both seasons found her victorious over Harvard on the Thames river.

Leader is a fine instructor and a great confidence builder. He has fine material at the New Haven institution this year. If he is given a free hand, the Blue should have one of its best years on the water.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.

Jack Dempsey is running from six to ten miles daily in his training work. He must figure that Gibbons will be hard to catch up with.

When Manager Kearns says that his man Dempsey will be up against the toughest nut he has attempted to crack in Gibbons, Kearns knows he does not think so and likewise, he isn't fooling anybody else. Gibbons will be easy for Dempsey. Make no mistake about that. It is simply a question of how many rounds he lasts. Everybody thinks that way and the proof lies in the fact that the only betting that is being done or will be done, will be along those lines.

California amateur crews are in the midst of their training work for the annual championships which will be rowed this year on July 8, on Glorietta Bay, off Coronado Tent City. There is a strong rivalry between the crews of the southern and the northern sections of the state with the balance, in the last few years, decidedly in favor of the southern section. The races will include senior four-oared shells; Intermediate four-oared shells, junior single skiffs, intermediate and senior single skiffs.

There seems to be some question as to whether or not Floyd Johnson is finished as a ring contender. Some claim that he has demonstrated that championship timber is not in his makeup. Others claim that he has been forced along too fast and pitted against company that he was not yet ready to cope against. There is no way of proving which is right except time and some more battles. Then look out for the "I told you so" crowd which is bound to be on hand no matter which way the cat jumps.

Friends of Andy Smith, nationally known coach of the University of California football team, will learn with sorrow that he recently buried his mother. Word came of her serious illness in the east and Andy immediately began a race against death. Unfortunately he lost, his mother having passed away when he reached her home. Smith not only has demonstrated he is one of the best coaches in the country, but he is popular with the men and he maintains the strictest sort of discipline in his squad, not through any punitive measures, but through his sheer personality. He has the faculty of having every man anxious to work his best for him.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 29.—Some time today the Jack Dempsey-Harry Mills enterprise is to receive official tolerance or official repudiation from the state athletic commission. Tonight Benny Leonard and Pinkey Mitchell are down for a no-decision canter in Chicago. On Saturday the Kilbane-Criqui bout for the world's featherweight championship. Two weeks later the Jimmy Wilde-Pancho Villa affair for the flyweight championship. On July 4, Dempsey and Tom Gibbons for the world's heavyweight championship. On July 7, Willard and Luis Firpo for the privilege of accepting a clout on the jaw and the loser's end with Dempsey.

This is the program to date for the greatest session in the history of boxing. Champions are roaming at large everywhere, and the air is charged with fists.

The re-appearance of Mr. Leonard is a sign of the times. Benjamin is not taking his title into the ring tonight. The bout is merely a discreet gesture, calculated to revive interest in Mr. Leonard's desire to mingle with Lew Tendler, an enterprise which must be conducted before the end of the present summer. Benny has discovered that it is less difficult to seek a chin than grab a headline these fitful days.

He is not alone in that. The worthy Mr. Rickard and other local promoters are getting nowhere in particular, what with Tom O'Rourke staging world's championship bouts of international importance and Dempsey defending his title at Shelby, Mont. Hence the warming over of the Dempsey-Wills controversy.

The Leonard-Tendler bout is, of course, a "natural" and must fit into the program somewhere. It is entirely too big for an indoor bout and if they wait until next summer, either or both may have become a dead one.

SPORTS CHATTER

They say that Willie Ritchie had the biggest pair of hands ever owned by a lightweight champion of the world. He'll probably need all there is of them if he gets back in the ring again against Benny Leonard.

Fat Willie Meehad of San Francisco is the only pugilist who can boast a decision over the champion Jack Dempsey. In requesting Willie to go to his training camp as a sparring partner, we wonder if Dempsey intends to show Meehan that that decision was a mere fluke. Anyhow, we'd be mighty skeptical if we were Willie—and careful.

In the Dempsey-Carpentier fight the only betting that was done was in connection with the number of rounds the Frenchman would be likely to last before the onslaughts of the champion. It is the same case in the present fight against Gibbons. There will be mighty few men who will be willing to place their money on Gibbons—even at the most attractive odds.

Gibbons is given credit for being a better fighter than Carpentier, the Frenchman. As we remember it, the betting in the Dempsey-Carpentier battle resolved itself around the question as to whether or not Carpentier would last through six rounds or not. Under the circumstances, it would not be surprising if the betting in the Dempsey-Gibbons fight concerned itself as to whether or not Gibbons would last—say eight rounds.

Eddie Diggins, the San Francisco lightweight boxer who made a sensation while he was in the amateur ranks as a member of the Olympic club, has decided that there is no future for him in the ring. For a time after he entered the professional ranks he kept up his good work, and it was thought in California that he would be an aspirant for lightweight world honors. For some reason the boy was unable to keep up the pace, and in his later fights he has been making consistently poor showings and being beaten at every start. Simply another promising boxer who failed to live up to the required specifications. It sometimes takes longer for these youngsters to reach a sensible decision, however.

CARE OF BODY-FINISH

The varnish on an automobile will not stand having dust or mud rubbed off, nor will it endure the grits of dust and mud driven into it by the water blasts from a high-pressure hose to which it is often subjected.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Dodgers raided the left handed $65,000 delivery of Jack Bentley for ten hits in a matter of seven innings and beat the Giants, 8 to 7.

Just to show that the age of miracles is not gone, the Phillies won a double-header from the Braves, 6 to 4, and 11 to 2.

Scoring runs in fits and starts, the Red Sox climbed aboard Rommel in the eighth for four runs and the Athletics finished second by a score of 8 to 6. Shanks' home run in the eighth furnished the fireworks.

Coming from the rear after Reds had scored twice in the tenth, the Cardinals replied with three runs against Couch and Keck, and won, 5 to 4.

An avalanche of pinch hitters and a timely single by Weis, a substitute, gave the Cubs a 5 to 4 decision over the Pirates in the seventh inning.

Cubs Wallop Pirates In Big Batting Rally

CHICAGO, May 29.—Doubles, flocks of them, enabled the Cubs to come from behind yesterday and win in the eleventh inning from Pittsburgh, 5 to 4. After two outs in the last half of the ninth, with the score 4 to 2 in favor of the Pirates, the Cubs unleashed their doubles, three in a row, which netted two scores and tied the count. In the eleventh a double, followed by a single, put over the winning tally.

Gibbons Greeted by Montana Fight Fans

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 29.—Six Montana towns more than exerted themselves in greeting Tommy Gibbons, challenger for the heavyweight title, in his clever campaign to become better acquainted with the hospitable westerners. Bands, banquets and crowded houses greeted Gibbons everywhere. While greatly pleased with the wonderful receptions accorded him, the challenger admitted that it was too much for him and quietly slipped away early Sunday night for a much needed rest. Gibbons now weighs 182 pounds and Tuesday will view for the first time the scene of his July 4 conflict with Jack Dempsey, present titleholder in the heavyweight division.

Sunday afternoon, Dempsey increased his sparring to ten rounds. In his bout with Wells, the champion speeded up a bit toward the end of the session and with a right to the jaw sent his opponent sprawling.

Dynamite Being Used In Making Moonshine

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 29.—"Liquid dynamite" was no figure of speech for a bootlegger arrested here. Several hundred percussion caps, two stills and thirty-one barrels of moonshine were confiscated. Booze bureau operatives declare the dynamite was being used in a new wrinkle of the liquor dispensers, and threaten prosecution of the salesmen under the new state poison liquor law.

Kansas Will Harvest Small Winter Wheat

TOPEKA, Kan., May 29.—Kansas will harvest its smallest winter wheat crop in five years—99,538,000 bushels, according to May estimates issued today by the state board of agriculture. Last year's production was 116,745,000 bushels. The Hessian fly, cinch bug and late rains are contributing causes for the small yield.

GIBBONS LOOKS GOOD

SHELBY, Mont., May 29. — Tommy Gibbons, challenger for the crown now worn by Champion Jack Dempsey, will be the kingpin of all heavies if the consensus of opinion of those already on the scene have anything to do with it. While Gibbons is on the short end of the betting, all bets are being eagerly grabbed up and should this continue for any length of time, odds will likely be even before the day of the bout.

KILBANE FAVORITE

NEW YORK, May 29.—Johnny Kilbane has been made the favorite at odds of 7 to 5 over Eugene Criqui in their bout for the world's featherweight championship to be decided at the Polo grounds on Saturday. Little betting, however, has been done because Criqui money is scarce. Both men have completed training.

LEONARD-MITCHELL

CHICAGO, May 29.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, will go after another championship here tonight when he meets Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee, in a scheduled ten-round bout for the junior welterweight championship. The men scaled at 138 pounds. Leonard is a favorite in the betting.

CITY IN CONTROL OF GERMAN REDS

Impose Prohibition, Offer Death Threat to Any Who Try Looting

ESSEN, May 28.—The German industrial city of Gelsenkirchen on the northern boundary of the Ruhr, is completely in the hands of the German reds today. They are ruling with an iron hand, imposing prohibition and threatening the death penalty for looting.

Gelsenkirchen shops are virtually sold out due to low prices enforced by the communists. Shopkeepers are unwilling to replenish their stocks, owing to heavy losses they would sustain. Famine is threatened.

Fresh communist disorders are reported from Castrop, near Dortmund and Bochum. Essen is quiet.

A NEW GOLF STAR.

Is in the ascendancy.

According to critics who watched Johnny Farrell in action this year.

And they look for him to bear out their contention when he arrives in England in a few days to compete, with other U. S. golfers, for the British open title, one of the most prized golfing honors.

Farrell's rise to notice has been rapid. He has been playing competitive golf only three seasons. He first demanded nation-wide attention last year when he finished as runner up to Jock Hutchison and Walter Hagen in the Columbia and White Sulphur Springs tourneys, both open affairs.

Later in the summer he bested an imposing group of the leading professional players of the U. S. in the important Shawnee open tourney at Delaware Water Gap.

His work at Miami and other southern resorts during the winter indicated clearly he is ripe for bigger things. It was this showing which caused his friends to finance his trip abroad.

Farrell may not be ready to best such men as Barnes, Hutchison and other champs just yet. But he may give the field in general a run for its money.

Seek to Force Wood to Call Special Election

MANILA, May 29.—Justice Street of the Philippine supreme court Monday issued a mandamus requiring Governor General Wood to file an appearance within twenty days and an answer within ten days thereafter in the proceedings instituted by Representative Gregario, prefect of Manila, to force the governor to call a special election for senator in the fourth district, comprising Manila and vicinity.

Russian Strike on Transport Settled

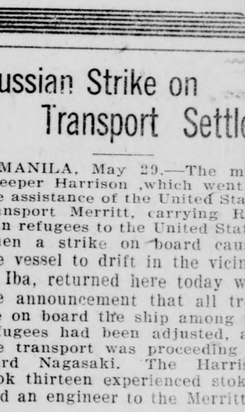

MANILA, May 29.—The mine sweeper Harrison, which went to the assistance of the United States transport Merritt, carrying Russian refugees to the United States, when a strike on board caused the vessel to drift in the vicinity of Iba, returned here today with the announcement that all trouble on board the ship among the refugees had been adjusted, and the transport was proceeding toward Nagasaki. The Harrison took thirteen experienced stokers and an engineer to the Merritt.

Look to Chinese to Set Captives Free

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The United States government is still relying on the Peking government to effect the release of the prisoners held by Chinese bandits, it was announced at the state department in denial of reports that "drastic action" was being ordered from Washington. The situation, from the American standpoint, is unchanged, it was stated.

A MISREPRESENTATION

We understand that talk is going about town to the effect that the gowns shown by the Ferber Co. Saturday night, at the Exposition Fashion Show, were only imported for the Fashion Show.

We want the people to know that this is not true, and that each and every garment was taken from our own stock and garments that have not been sold since the show, may be seen right in our Ready-to-wear section any day.

To back this up we offer $1,000 to anyone proving the contrary.

Signed, A. FERBER CO.

Russ Refugees Sail In Search of Haven

CLANGAPO, P. I., May 28.—After an affecting scene in which their leader, Admiral Stark, bade them good-bye, 529 Russian refugees set sail yesterday for the United States on the U. S. Transport Merritt to seek a final haven after having traveled over the entire far eastern section of the world seeking a home.

Just before the Merritt pulled anchor, Admiral Stark and his staff boarded the vessel and inspected the refugees in their quarters. They were then called to the after-deck where Stark, his voice husky with emotion, made a farewell address while a priest in a long brown cassock intoned a chant in which the men joined bareheaded and with heads bowed.

River Recedes From Okla. Flooded Region

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 29.—Flood waters of the North Canadian river which isolated Capitol Hill and Packingtown sections were receding somewhat early today but it will be two days before the river is within its banks again, the weather bureau said today.

One thousand homes were in the flooded area but only one life has been lost—an unidentified young man who attempted to rescue some livestock.

Airplanes were to be pressed into service today to carry food supplies between the city and the flooded district.

Governor Signs Bill For $225,000 Bridge

SACRAMENTO, May 26.—In memory of the late assemblyman, G. H. Douglas, who died during the second session of the legislature, Governor Richardson has signed assembly bill No. 60, introduced by Douglas and providing an appropriation of $225,000 for the erection of a bridge over the Klamath river near Requa in Del Norte county. The bridge will be known as Douglas bridge. In signing the bill, the governor said:

"To my mind this bridge is the most important thing in the highway system of California because it is a gap in the great coast highway which blocks traffic. The highway engineers will proceed at once to the construction of this important link."

EXHIBITS COVER MANY INDUSTRIES

Interest in Exhibition Is Sustained as Crowds Flock to Tent

The attractions of the Industrial Exposition continue to exercise their lure for the people of this city and also for visitors from neighboring towns, as is shown by the large attendance that has been maintained at the big tent ever since the opening of the exposition, and the artistic decorations of the booths, as well as the variety of the exhibits, is a matter of favorable comment on all sides.

The announcement that a cup would be donated by the Standard Oil company for the best decorated booth has aroused keen competition among many of the exhibitors, and extra attractions are being added to render the displays more enticing.

Draught beer served by the Maier Brewing company made a hit during the heated afternoon and evening. The brewery also is disposing of bottled goods, including its tonic, Maier select and Maier apple cider.

War Mothers' Booth

A combination booth arranged by the War Mothers' Lester Meyer post and the local American Legion auxiliary holds a large hope chest, containing hand-made linens, which is to be awarded at conclusion of a drawing contest. Home-made cakes, popcorn balls and flavoring extracts also are sold from this section. Mrs. Marguerite Kaeding, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. Christine Enos and Mrs. T. J. Morgan, with other women of the two organizations, are carrying on the work.

Determined efforts to popularize in this locality the famous cider made by the Chino Valley Apple Growers' association, are being made by Fred A. White, himself a member of the Chino organization. Mr. White declares that the cider is being introduced here for the first time at this exposition.

Several pounds of black-caked sediment, seen in the Fanset Dye Works booth, is described as the quantity of dirt drawn from approximately 100 suits of clothes sent the cleaning company for rejuvenation. The work, according to those in the booth, is done with a centrifugal clarifier and only fresh clean benzine is used in the process.

Flipping Flapjacks

One of the few exhibits on the zone which does not contain a human attendant is that of Albers flapjack flour. An automatic mechanical miner from early dawn until late at night flips flapjacks over a camp fire after the approved method of the Albers trademark.

Two jars of Gelfand's quality products, which consist of mayonnaise, relish and olive mayonnaise, are given during the exposition without charge to every purchaser of a single jar. The Gelfand booth is near the south entrance of the big exhibit tent.

With plans to establish an agency in Glendale, A. S. Frost of Ocean Park is introducing Liberty root beer. Patrons declare this is a drink innovation, for the beer assumes a creamy formation when drawn from the keg. Mr. Frost has had several applications for the local sale of the product, but has not closed definitely.

Crepe paper, twisted into pretty shapes and styles, is the feature of the Glendale Book Store exhibit. In this division, Mrs. Daphne Mae Lyons explains how the work is accomplished.

A beautiful relief map, with a miniature model, displays the nearly completed mausoleum in Forest Lawn Memorial park. In the park's exhibit are colored photos of the Little Church of the Flowers, the mausoleum and the mausoleum's halls and porches.

Monuments in various stages of completion and rough blocks of marble just as they arrive at the stone cutter's yard are shown in the Glendale Monument Works exhibit. C. H. Ambrose, proprietor, is exhibiting photos of the quarries from which the rock is obtained.

A huge section of a Duralite stucco home, with another home pictured in the distance, are features of General Construction company's exhibit. The exterior of the home section is effectively decorated with palms and outside furniture.

Model Bath Rooms

Equipped even to the towels, several model bath rooms are featured in the Jewel City Plumbing exhibit. A drinking fountain is placed at the disposal of exposition guests. F. R. Bruner, a member of the firm, also has included a line of water heaters in his division.

Oakland Six autos, in sports touring and sedan types, occupy the center of attraction in the H. W. Fredman Auto company's area. Thomas B. Powell, manager, with a crew of assistants, it is reported, are besieged for information.

A chart, showing the best oils for keeping a Ford car in trim, drew numerous Ford owners to the Standard Oil company booth, where M. M. Guthrie, salesman for Glendale territory, is in charge. From the chart, ribbons lead to the parts of the machine which call for the specified Standard Oil product.

A Western Giant Cord tire seven feet high and measuring 85 inches in circumference and 15 inches in diameter reposes in a section of the Western Auto Supply company's division. Western palmetto tents as well as other camp suggestions are shown. C. P. Scott, publicity director for the supply company, is in charge of the exhibit a large proportion of the time.

A laundry adaptable for home use is being operated by the Good Housekeeping Shop. Kitchen ranges and other household helps are distributed lavishly through the occupied space. The laundry demonstrations are attracting much attention, for an open offer is made to perform washes during the exposition.

Introducing "Ko Fan" to the thirsty crowds, the Lexington Drug company is operating a booth where other drinks and a line of candies are on exhibition and are offered for sale.

Shows Brick Styles

Said to include nearly every conceivable way of laying tile roofing and brick, the Simons Brick company has a booth, which is of especial interest to builders and bricklayers. The joints and matching of brick shown here include so many methods and styles that the layman likewise is attracted to the exhibition to gratify his curiosity.

"Why," a drink manufactured in Pasadena, is being given an introduction to numerous Glendale residents, by means of a neatly decorated exposition booth. The product is said to be rich in vitamines.

Hot and cold running water, a drinking fountain, and bottomless ovens form the trilogy of principal features in Coker & Taylor's exhibition. The drinking fountain, in particular, won admiration of thirsty crowds on the opening night and this afternoon.

Popcorn fried in corn oil, a process which, it is said, causes the entire kernel to fluff up light and chewable, is one of the fast-selling articles on the exposition zone. The Peerless Popcorn company, consisting of H. W. Morris and H. C. Dehn, plans to open a local manufacturing plant for sweet popcorn balls and buttered popcorn in Glendale after the exposition is concluded.

Warm air for household heating purposes is the topic of conversation in the Potter Radiator Corporation's booth. A section of air conveyor, behind some exposed lath and plaster, gives an idea of how the appliances are installed between building joists.

An accurate watch regulator in the E. N. Radke jewelry booth invites many to pause while they set their time pieces. Hamilton watches and optical work also are features of the Radke showing.

Exploiting their new tracts, Castle Heights and Edgemont Park, Hamlin & Hepburn, sub-dividers, have a series of paintings and literature of interest to realty investors. Brand Castle is depicted in oils as a means of illustrating the beauty of the neighborhood.

Free scales on which exposition visitors may learn their accurate weight are installed in the Sam Seelig company's entrance way. Cracker and jam sandwiches are being presented to guests after their weights have been obtained. California products, numbering nearly 60 varieties, are included.

Ferns, shrubs and lichens from Eagle Rock nursery cause that concern's division to take on the aspect of a cozy nook in a tropical park. The arrangement was effected by J. M. Grant, landscape architect.

Peerless built-in fixtures and Patton's Sun-proof paints form a combination that attracts housewives to the exhibit of the Stevens Paint store and the Glendale Sales company. Pitcairn waterspar varnishes and enamels also are on display.

A physical map of Glendale, drawn in accord with federal surveys by J. T. Edwards, who has presented the detailed work to the Chamber of Commerce, causes scores to pause while they pick out locations of their residences or business edifices. So conscientiously is the huge map drawn, that every elevation, regardless of how slight it may be, is shown in the depiction of foothills surrounding the city.

Of extra large proportions and endowed with a frontage on both sides of the exposition trail, the Russell-Pierce Furniture company's booth represents a total valuation of $2500. L. W. Russell and R. E. Pierce, owners of the establishment, are devoting themselves to their part in the exposition.

A plate-glass Console model from the Cheney phonograph factory represents one of the highest valuations at the exposition. Situated in the Shuck Music company's booth, the model is said to possess a sales value of $3000. The wall of this exhibit is tastefully decorated with phonograph records.

ASK COUNCIL TO ABATE NUISANCE

Petition Declares Dust of Cement Is Damaging Nearby Homes

The City Council last night referred to City Attorney Ray L. Morrow a petition requesting that the persons responsible for the cement dust near the intersection of Wilson and Glendale avenues should be ordered to have its presence abated as a public nuisance.

The petition stated: "The nature of this nuisance consists of cement dust which is continually flying into store rooms, and also is, at frequent intervals during the day, flying into the apartments which are located on the second floor. Further, a cookie factory is located in the same building and we believe that it is not conducive to health to have this cement dust flying into a factory where food products which are to be sold to the public are manufactured. Proprietor of said cookie factory has been a tenant at 203 North Glendale avenue for eight years, and is at present leased for three additional years.

Signers of the petition are: Hoffman & Pixley, Palace Dry Cleaners; William Sauter, proprietro of the cookie factory; Mrs. Viola B. Chapman, proprietress of the Gladys apartments, and E. E. Harrington.

GLENDALIANS AT K. P. CONVENTION

Delegates Report Stirring Annual Meeting Held At Santa Cruz

Another annual state gathering has passed into the history of 1923 and Glendale delegates to the state Knights of Pythias' and Pythian Sisters' convention at Santa Cruz are home with reports of a wonderful gathering.

J. Spence and E. Fram represented the local Knights, while Mrs. Fram and Mrs. R. Doose were delegates from the Sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Fram, Mrs. Doose and son Richard motored north.

There were 411 Knights and 158 Pythian Sisters who spent the major portion of the week in the northern city. Meetings, motor trips, picnic outings, banquets and balls were the features. The next convention will be at Bakersfield.

Southern Californians were greatly pleased over the election of Mrs. Corrine Mitchell of Los Angeles as grand honor guard.

On their way home the Frams and Mrs. Doose had dinner with an old friend living at Santa Barbara.

Damage Suit Against Actor Is Not Settled

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—Negotiations have not been completed for the settlement of the $200,000 damage suit brought by Dorothy Clark, pretty stage dancer, against Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, it was indicated when the suit was called before Judge Wood. A further continuance was asked by Miss Clark's attorney and the case went over until June 11.

In her suit Miss Clark declared she was attacked by the actor October 15, 1920, while in New York City when she was but 15 years old. The case went on trial here a few months ago and after a part of the testimony had been taken it was halted when it was announced there was a possibility of settlement out of court. The case had been continued until yesterday. Rawlinson denied the girl's charges.

Foil Jail Break by Two Alleged Burglars

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—A wholesale county jail break was averted late yesterday when Jailer Mark Bailey closed in on I. W. Marsden and T. E. Welch, awaiting trial for burglary, as they sawed the last bar from tank 16. After being apprehended the men were placed in cells.

Fifty-three men could have escaped had Welch and Marsden succeeded in their plans to break from the tank, authorities said. A large knife was also found in the possession of the men, which led jail attaches to believe the prisoners were only waiting for the "grave yard" shift tonight to make their dash for liberty.

Coupe Loses Wheel In Crash With Truck

The left hind wheel of a coupe occupied by R. Hillas of 1424 Rock Glen avenue was knocked off about 12:30 o'clock yesterday noon by a truck being driven west on Broadway by Cornelius Langdon of Los Angeles. The passenger car was pulling out from the curb on Broadway just west of Brand boulevard.

NEW OWNER OPERATES GOLDEN WEST SANITARIUM

Acquisition Of Property Comes As Climax of Bitter Struggle

MRS. ALLIE TAYLOR ANDERSON, proprietor of the Golden West Sanitarium and Hospital, which was formerly known as Thornycroft. She has a host of friends in Glendale who wish her all success in her conduct of the sanitarium.

Former Home of Ex-Service Men Converted Into Private Hospital

THORNYCROFT Sanitarium, which was given up by Mrs. Nan Maxon Miller several months ago because of ill health, is being taken over this week by Mrs. Allie Taylor Anderson and will be known henceforth as the Golden West Sanitarium and Hospital.

Until recently Mrs. Anderson operated a private sanitarium at 1125 East California avenue which was known also as the Golden West Sanitarium. Announcement that she has leased Thornycroft comes as a climax to a series of personal achievements which reads almost like a fairy tale.

Just five years ago Mrs. Anderson arrived in Glendale with less than thirty dollars, her training as a professional nurse as an asset, and a big determination to forge her way to financial independence. She was accompanied by her three children, Cymbeline, Waltha and John, who are attending local schools. They have been her greatest incentives to success.

About the time that her small fund was exhausted, Mrs. Anderson obtained a position in the surgical department of the Thornycroft Sanitarium, the hundred-thousand-dollar institution, which is now under her sole direction.

Mrs. Allie Anderson was born in Greenville, Texas. Her father, Walter E. Taylor, is a descendant of Zachary Taylor. She was graduated from a nurses' training institution in her native city and later finished a post-graduate course in Chicago. Eight years ago she was left with no means of support and returned with her children to her father's home in Texas.

Ambition urged her to come to California. Against the wishes of relatives she packed her belong-

SPLIT LOOMS IN TWO BIG PARTIES

League and World Court to Be Cause of War in Rival Camps

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Unless some highly efficient peacemaking is accomplished in the quiet months of this drowsy political summer, it seemed fairly certain, political observers agree, that both major parties will slide into the presidential year of 1924 with sizeable splits within their ranks over international policies. While the Republicans are warring between themselves over the issue of President Harding's court proposal, the Democrats are no less divided, even at this early stage of the game, over whether the Democratic platform of 1924 shall specifically indorse the League of Nations as did the platform in 1920.

The Republican fighting is in the open; the Democratic fighting is under cover and growing.

Many believe that McAdoo leaders had agreed to "soft pedal" the league issue, despite the known fact that former President Woodrow Wilson, McAdoo's father-in-law, will demand that the party continue its indorsement of his policies.

McAdoo Is Silent

McAdoo, recently, in a telegram to International News Service, declined to commit himself either way in the fight between leaguers and anti-leaguers within the party. Senator King had predicted McAdoo's candidacy for president without pledging entry into the league.

In response to an inquiry, McAdoo telegraphed as follows:

"Senator King is a warm friend and I appreciate highly his good opinion, but he is, of course, expressing his own views."

The practical politicians of the Democratic party are sorely worried over the growing division in the party over the question of league indorsement. Many of them admit privately they would like to see the platform silent on the Paris league, but how to accomplish this in face of the "sick man in S street" is a problem over which they shake their heads dolefully.

Loss of Meager Bank Roll Works Hardship

Fred Jordan of Tujunga, who is employed at the exposition grounds in Glendale, has decided he is just naturally out-of-luck.

By manual labor he supports a sick daughter out in the hills.

So Saturday night when he lost $15 in one dollar bills at the exposition grounds he was all broken up.

With most of his week's earnings gone he asks that the finder return half to him and keep $7.50.

Steals Auto and Two Girls, Police Assert

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—While government and police officers investigated his record, A. E. O'Brien, 21, said to be the son of the sheriff at St. Claire county, Ill., today faced a charge of violating the Dyer act and the Mann act. Beatrice Noe, 18, of Albuquerque, N. M., is held in the county jail as a material witness.

O'Brien is said to have stolen an automobile in the New Mexican city and persuaded Miss Noe and Myrtle Moran, 16, to drive to Los Angeles with him. Here the trio are said to have met Albert Woods, another Albuquerque youth.

Tia Juana Horseman Visits Circus Friends

C. W. Snow, who hails from Tia Juana, was a visitor at the Glendale Industrial Exposition yesterday.

He claims to own the world's only rival of Spark Plug. His horse's name is Motor Cop. It will be running at Reno next month.

"Just dropped in to see some of my old circus friends with the pit shows," said Snow, who had just motor copped a silver fruit tray at one of the concessions.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—San Franciscans of timid disposition may breathe more easily now.

Uncle Sam's powerful coast defense guns which guard the entrance to the Golden Gate and thus protect the great land-locked harbor which could accommodate the entire fighting fleet of the United States and have room to spare for an armada of mercantile vessels have again given demonstration of their fitness.

The 60th Company, Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Barry, has completed its annual service target practice. Firing was from Battery Guthrie six-inch guns. The mission of the battery was to destroy an enemy destroyer fleet while in the field of fire of the battery and seeking to enter the harbor.

Twenty-five projectiles weighing 109 pounds each were fired from Battery Guthrie at ranges varying from 5,000 to 7,500 yards without personnel errors. Eleven hits were made—an excellent average, which in actual warfare would have accomplished destruction of the fleet.

The 67th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, at Fort Baker, was given the task of destroying an enemy battleship, similar in type to the giant United States battleship California, attempting to join an enemy fleet off Fort Funston. Seven monster projectiles weighing 1,070 pounds each were fired from the big twelve-inch guns of Battery Spencer. The shots were fired at ranges varying between 9,000 and 13,000 yards—the maximum distance being nearly seven and one-half miles. Two direct hits were made on the hull of the enemy vessel, either of which would have put her out of commission and probably have sent her to the bottom.

Adequate plans for the industrial mobilization of the Pacific Coast in the event of war are being made under the direction of Major H. L. Brett, Ordnance Department, and Bruce Cornwall, prominent real estate man, who served as a lieutenant-colonel during the war in the Ordnance Department, who is serving without cost to the government due to his interest in the work.

The district includes California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Utah. It is expected to establish contact through the chambers of commerce of the various Pacific Coast cities with the industries that must be utilized in the supply of ordnance materials. The district chief will make a survey of the district and assign orders for the district's quota of the war requirement of ordnance materials to the industries having facilities for manufacture. The plan is purely of an emergency nature and does not contemplate the expenditure of funds or any actual production in time of peace. Its success depends upon the patriotic co-operation of the industries of the district.

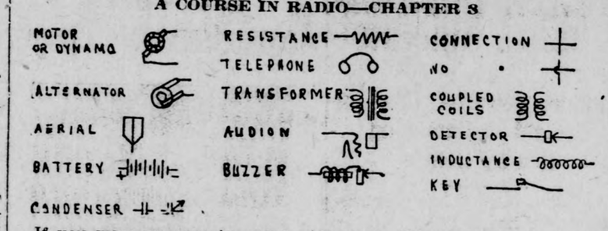

The United States under the plan is divided into thirteen districts. The manufacturing facilities of the Pacific Coast would become of tremendous importance, it is pointed out, in the event of a war in which the West Coast would be a base of operations. Under such circumstances the industries in this district would be called upon not only for their proper share of manufactured material, but also to furnish repair and maintenance facilities for the active operations. Colonel Cornwall recently attended a conference in Washington presided over by Major-General C. G. Williams, at which plans were gone over for the complete industrial mobilization of the Pacific Coast.

Elaborate preparations are under way with the Ninth Army Corps headquarters at the Presidio here for the Citizens' Military Training camps to be held up and down the Pacific Coast, at which thousands of boys will receive training in the rudiments of military duty and at the same time wholesome outdoor physical development. Not the least important part of the preparations is the commissary end, or, in doughboy parlance, "the eats."

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

A COURSE IN RADIO—CHAPTER 8

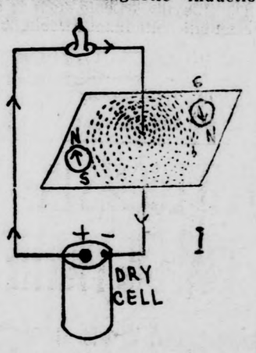

If you were an experienced fan and desired to remember some layout that someone else was using you would not make a drawing of every instrument shown in the diagram of his connections. That would be quite a job and unnecessary. Instead of drawing equipment as it looks the radio man has symbols which represent each instrument, a sort of short hand, as does the chemist who outlines certain chemical processes by symbols.

In this article is shown some of the more important symbols used and you will find they represent, in a crude way, the principle of the piece of apparatus mentioned. Examine them carefully and register them in your mind, if necessary draw them several times and then check the list over to see that you have them correct. They are easy, in fact, everything contained in these lessons should be understood by any school boy of average intelligence. If these symbols are memorized you can look at any radio drawing and fully understand it so that you can go ahead and hook the parts up intelligently.

Induction

The word induction seems to puzzle so many people but for our purpose it is the transfer of energy due to magnetism. This magnetism may be due to permanent magnets or from electric current. The words electro-magnetic induction sounds formidable, but it not and is merely electric current produced by magnetic lines of force. There is a magnetic field about every wire that carries an electric current. When an electric current flows through a wire, that wire will be surrounded by a magnetic field similar to that surrounding a magnet. This brings us face to face with the mysterious connection which exists between electric current and magnetism.

We can easily prove that such magnetism exists around a current carrying wire by making the following test: Take a six inch piece of cardboard, iron filings, two small compasses, dry cell, small electric light and four feet of wire, connect them as shown in figure I. The current passes through the center of the cardboard and the iron filings will arrange themselves in concentric circles. The magnetism grips each little particle of iron and holds it. This proves that there is a magnetic field about a current carrying wire. The compasses also indicate magnetism is present as their needles are affected, each pointing in a different direction. If the current through the wire is reversed, the needles will reverse their positions. (The current can be reversed on the battery). If you look closely at the cardboard you will notice the lines of force start with the wire as the center and spread out, becoming weaker and weaker as they do. If you had an extremely sensitive recording instrument at one end of the room it would register these feeble lines of force. It is the same way with your receiving set. The more sensitive it is the more and louder the signals are.

The strength of the lines of force existing about a current carrying wire depends on the current (in amperes) flowing through the wire. A strong current will produce powerful lines of force and a weak current will produce weak lines of force. This can be proven by adding another dry cell or two to the one in use.

When the current flowing through a wire is shut off the magnetic field collapses instantly.

Right Hand Rule For Direction Of Current Flow

A simple method of finding the direction of the lines of force about a wire if we know the direction of the current is known as the right hand rule. The wire is grasped in the right hand so that the thumb is pointing in the direction of current flow. The fingers about the wire will point in the direction taken by the lines of force. It ought to be needless to add, do not try this on wires carrying high potentials. You might say but how do we know which way the current is traveling? If you know which is positive and negative, the current is traveling from the positive to the negative. If alternating current is used, this will not hold good as the current reverses its polarity many times a second.

Pointers

In a transmitting set, the fact that you are getting high radiation does not mean that you are reaching distant points.

In wiring up your set, keep the wiring going to the grid and plate far apart or at least run them at right angles.

Solid copper wire stretches after being in use and your aerial will sag.

If you have a sewing machine motor and are bothered with noises in your set, find out whether the motor is running.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY JUMPS THE FENCE

Happily twinkling his pink nose and whitsling a jolly little tune, Uncle Wiggily hopped out on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow.

"You feel very gay this morning," spoke Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, "don't you?"

"Somewhat rather, admitted Mr. Longears. "I think I am going to have another surprising adventure before very long."

"I hope you do, and I hope you come to no harm," said Nurse Jane.

"Thank you," responded the rabbit gentleman with a low and polite bow of his silk hat.

Then he hopped over the fields and through the woods, looking this way and looking that for an adventure. But adventures seemed rather scarce—at least Uncle Wiggily saw none for a long time, and when he did see one, it was such a tiny little adventure.

He noticed a little June Bug lady wiggling and flopping about on the path in the woods.

"What is the matter, Mrs June Bug?" asked Mr .Longears.

"Oh, I am in such trouble," was the buzzing answer. "I have been to the store for a quart of rose leaf molasses, and I was on my way home when, all of a sudden, I couldn't seem to crawl another step. I couldn't fly, either. I'm caught fast here and yet I can't see what is holding me."

Uncle Wiggily put on his glasses and took a careful look.

"Ah, ha!" he cried, his pink nose twinkling very fast. "I see what has happened. Some of the rose leaf molasses has leaked out of your pail and you have stepped in the sticky stuff. Molasses! That is what is holding you fast to the woodland path. I'll soon set you free."

Uncle Wiggily hopped to the brook and, making a little cup of white birch park, he filled it with water. The water wet the sticky rose leaf molasses and loosened it from the legs of the June Bug lady, so soon she could move herself.

"Oh, thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" she buzzed. "I suppose you will call this one of your adventures, will you not?" she asked.

"Well, sort of," answered the bunny gentleman. But to himself he added: "I want a more exciting adventure than getting a June Bug lady out of some sticky rose leaf molasses. I must hop along."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along and soon he came to a field around which was a tight fence. The fence was made of boards and they fitted so closely to the ground that there was no way of crawling under them.

Generally when he reached a fence Uncle Wiggily could crawl beneath it or dig a hole through which he could slip. But this fence was too tight and the ground near it was hard and too stony for digging.

"Well, I must jump the fence," thought the bunny gentleman. "I see what's there. Perhaps there may be an adventure." So in another instant Uncle Wiggily settled back on his hind legs, sprang forward and over the fence he jumped. His paws landed on the ground inside the field, but, all at once, the bunny uncle found himself held fast.

"Oh, I'm caught in a trap," he cried. "There must have been a trap on this side of the fence and I'm in it! There isn't any adventure in this field at all, only a trap, and I'm caught fast! Oh, dear!" It was very sad for Uncle Wiggily.

He tried and he tried and he tried to get loose, but he couldn't The harder he pulled the more tightly he seemed to be caught and at last he cried:

"Help! Help! Help!" Then all of a sudden there was a rustling in the bushes growing near the fence and a little voice cried:

"Why, you aren't in a trap at all!" chuckled Jollie.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, whatever is the matter?" There stood Jollie Longtail, the mousie boy. "What has happened?" he asked.

"Oh! Oh, Jollie, I'm caught in a fence trap," said Uncle Wiggily.

Jollie looked and then he looked again. Then he laughed.

"It isn't anything to laugh at," said the bunny soberly.

"Why, you aren't in a trap at all!" chuckled Jollie. "Your coat tail is just caught on a nail in the fence, that's all. Wait a moment, I'll set you free," Jollie loosened the bunny's coat tails from the nail in the fence behind the rabbit and Uncle Wiggily could soon hop as well as ever.

"Dear me! How silly I was to think it was a trap!" laughed Mr. Longears. "I was almost as foolish as the June Bug lady. But thank you for setting me free, Jollie. Now, if you'll come to the store with me I'll buy you a lollypop."

And you may be sure Jollie went.

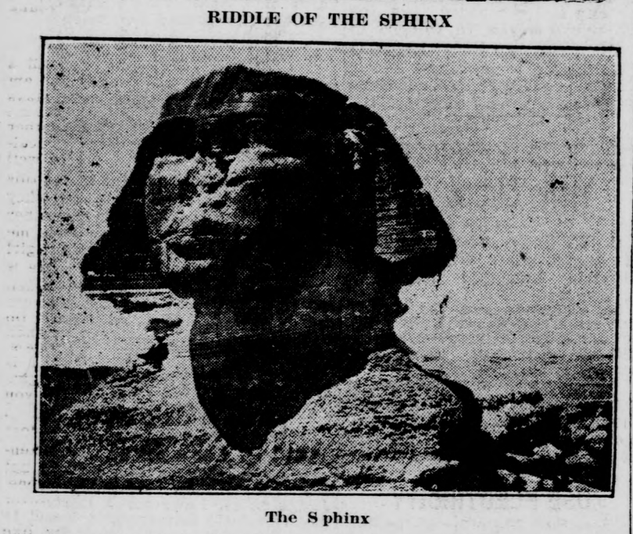

And if the rubber boot doesn't try to turn into a satin slipper for the rag doll when she goes to the Jumping Jack's party, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the basket or sawdust.

RIDDLE OF THE SPHINX

The Sphinx

Recent discoveries by archaeologists have to a great extent solved the real riddle of the Sphinx, which has to do with its meaning and the degree of its antiquity.

Old Man Cheops started to build the Great Pyramid about 3700 B. C. He left behind him a written statement in regard to certain repair work which he did on the Sphinx. Hence it is manifest that the Sphinx must be older than the Great Pyramid, and in all likelihood it is very much older.

Desert sands, in the course of ages, half buried the monstrous image, and not until a few years ago were excavations made which revealed the fact that it had a body 150 feet long, with forelegs fifty feet long stretched out in front. Incidentally it was discovered that inside of the lower part of it and beneath it was a temple.

Inscriptions found in the temple showed the Sphinx was not meant to represent a woman. It was a gigantic image of Ra-Harmachis, god of Morning and conquerer of Darkness. Hence it faces the east. The temple was for the worship of the god, and in its walls were tombs containing the mummies of kings.

Originally the Sphinx was a lone rock that rose out of the desert plain. It was sculptured to represent the god, with a face fourteen feet wide (as one may measure it today), and headgear imitating the ancient Egyptian fashion. On its head was a helmet like cap, carved at the front with a representation of the sacred asp. Part of the cap has been dug up.

The body has the shape of a lion; the paws are a lion's paws. The image, lacking the cap, is seventy two feet high. In the days of the pharaohs it was covered with a brilliantly colored enamel of the same kind that is found on porcelain tiles in ancient Egyptian tombs and palaces. Fragments of this enamel have been preserved by European collectors, and bits of it may still be seen attached to the body of the Sphinx. Probably the cap was gilded. The whole effect must have been superb.

Being a rock (though sandstone masonry was used to some extent to make the outlines of the body symmetrical), the Sphinx has outlasted the ages. Not without hard trials, however. From time to time invaders in Egypt, eager to destroy, have not failed to turn their attention to the mighty image. The soldiers of the Persian conqueror Cambyses did what mischief they could to it. In later days Napoleon's artillerymen, just for devilment, aimed a cannon at it, and struck it square in the nose with a ball, shattering its features.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

BY DR. W. F. THOMSON

When flowering grasses
Make us sneeze;
That's hay fever,
If you please.

Fond is he of quinine whose home is unscreened.

Blooming roses, in the spring, often make our noses ring.

If you want to see a "skeeter" die, find a hungry dragon fly.

From May to June, then July,
When the pollens start to fly—
When the flowers start to bloom
Then hay fever's on the boom.

We dread spiders and not flies; flies kill man and spiders flies.

Some folks say, when a ratter won't rat, a boa constrictor beats a Maltese cat.

If mosquitoes were as big as bull frogs, and looked like spiders, there'd be no malaria.

When you tell a friend that he's as welcome as the flowers in May, be quite sure that he isn't a victim of spring fever.

BILLY WHISKER

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

When Bobby arrived at the stable with Teddy at his heels he said:

"Now, Teddy, old fellow, from now on you are my dog, so you stay here until Mrs. Ward gets used to doing without you, and gets acquainted with Billy. If you don't, I'm afraid she will go back on the deal, and then you can't be my dog. And you know you would rather be my dog and run around and have some fun with me and the boys than sticking round here, guarding the house and chasing stray cows."

So he shut Teddy in a box stall, and led Billy out of the stable and over to Mrs. Ward's.

Now Mrs. Ward was out, but would be back soon, as he had seen her going to the grocery on his way from school. He thought it would be a good plan to let her know as soon as possible the exchange he had made. So he coolly walked to the front porch steps and tied Billy fast to the doorknob, regardless that the porch had just been painted and that there was a sign up with Fresh Paint painted on it in big letters and tacked to two crosspieces of board to keep people from going up. But what were two boards to Bobbie? He simply kicked them down and marched up with Billy close at his heels. Then he hid around the corner to wait and hear what Mrs. Ward would say when she first saw the goat tied to her doorknob.

He did not have to wait long, for he soon saw her coming down the street, reading a letter as she walked. When she arrived at her gate, she happened to look up and saw the big, white billy goat quietly lying down on her freshly painted porch.

She thrust her letter in her handbag, slammed the gate, picked up a stick and with the crossest face you ever saw walked up the path, ready to beat the goat for making tracks in the fresh paint. But when she got there and saw the poor goat had had nothing to do with it, as he was tied there, she knew someone had played this trick on her. And of course the first person she thought of was Bobbie. To make sure, she leaned over and studied the footprints carefully. Yes, they were a boy's footprints, and not those of a man. Besides, as they went away, they had left marks on the stone walk, and they led towards Bobbie's home.

Tomorrow Bobbie Gets a Good Scolding From Mrs. Ward.

Do not expect success to come to you but trap it when you meet it.

The Quest of Silent Men

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

The street was dark and the hour was near midnight. Dan Carney scented adventure in the air and kept his eyes on a little man in a long overcoat which all but dragged on the sidewalk. The man approached from a corner where the rays of an arc light fell on a hat pulled down over his ears and showed, for a moment, that the overcoat was green. Except for the fact he shuffled along silently there was nothing strange about the man, but Dan, who was looking for mystery, overlooked no chances.

In front of Dan the man hesitated, turned quickly, and disappeared in a grating in the sidewalk. The lad decided he would wait for him to come out. Walking briskly and swinging long arms, there came another man, who repeated the act of the first. He hesitated, scanned the face of a building, and went down the stairs which took him out of sight.

Dan Carney became interested. This was not the hour for lodge meetings or social gatherings. From what he could see the taller man had been well dressed and prosperous; the other, shabby. Yet both had gone into the cellar and at midnight on this lonely street. Dan stood in front of the grating, then leaned over a rail and tried to look into a window which was coated with dust or paint. A light shone through, but he could see nothing of what was inside. The door below opened and he slipped into a doorway. It was the overcoat man coming out, trying as he walked to conceal a long paper package under his coat. Then many men appeared. A file of silent pedestrians moved in and out of the cellar, and each, as he left, carried a package.

"This is not a bootlegger's joint," Dan decided. "I know what a bottle looks like when it is wrapped up. Those bundles look more like clothes, and they are all alike."

The men continued to come. One left a taxicab and there was another in the uniform of a motorman. Always they stopped at the grating, disappeared, then emerged with a bundle.

"If this is wrong I ought to act quick," Dan decided. "Unless I am dreaming, some mysterious order is getting ready for a meeting or a raid."

As he watched, the probabilities of this idea seemed stronger. The cellar room was the storehouse for costumes, maybe masks. A call had been sounded and members of the organization were assembling from all parts of the city. What else could explain the presence of so many men at this hour and in this street? There was only one thing to do. He would tell the police.

Dan walked as fast as he could to the corner and down a block.

"Sergeant," he addressed a patrolman with a title that generally wins a respectful hearing, "there is something queer going on in this beat. Men, scores of them, maybe hundreds, are sneaking into a basement not far from here and are coming out with bundles which may contain arms. I think there is a Red plot or something brewing. Come and take a look."

"Where is that anarchist den?" The patrolman was not visibly impressed.

"Oh, that place? Well, young fellow, you just stick around here for three and a half minutes when I ring off the beat and I'll take you into that very same joint. I'm going there myself tonight and for one of them bundles." He looked at Dan and winked mysteriously. "If you want to, I'll let you get one. What do you say?"

The policeman, too, was a member of the silent gang.

"What," Dan asked, "is in the packages?"

"Promise not to tell?" The patrolman eyed the youth with a fierce, questioning look.

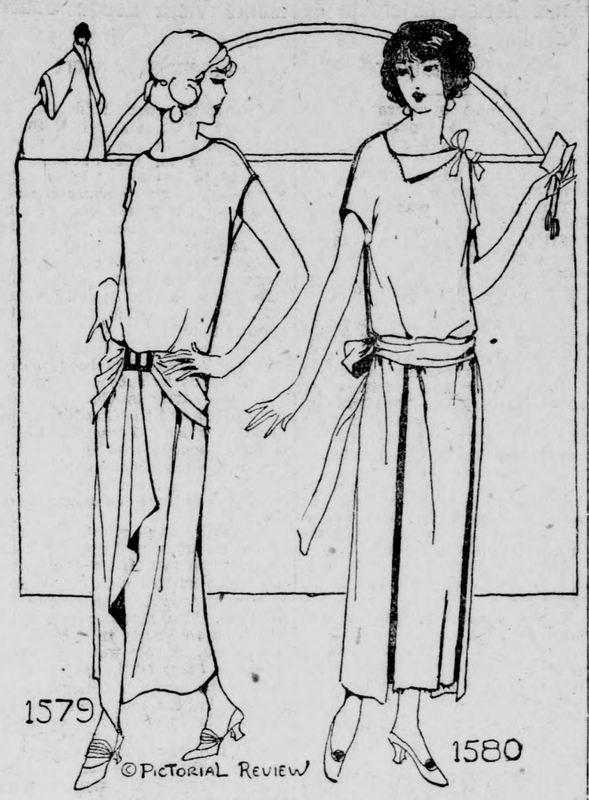

"Well, it's hot buns. All the folks around here, when they knock off from night work, and a lot of others who sit up late, call at the bakery when the batch comes off. They're great. Better come along."

GRACEFUL AND DISTINCTIVE MODELS

For a semi-formal frock of real beauty and distinction in styling, nothing could be more satisfying than the first model, designed for development in cork-color flat crepe. The fastening is at the left side, the oval neck being collarless. To the long-waisted blouse is attached a one-piece skirt with lapped fronts, the right side hanging free to form a cascade drapery. A colorful buckle holds the drapery in place. Medium size requires 3¼ yards 40-inch material.

In the second model the straight line is pleasingly diversified. Flat crepe is used for this frock also, in the new shade of Pharaoh blue. The neck is slashed at the right side and turned down to form the fashionable "envelope flap." Gathered side panels are attached to the sides of the skirt under a sash belt. Fancy ribbon or metal braid may be used to outline the panels. Medium size requires 6⅝ yards 36-inch material.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1579. Sizes, 16 to 20 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1580. Sizes, 34 to 50 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

ANSWERED LETTERS

Lady in Distress—The bad pit left from chicken pox can be easily filled out by a dermatologist. I am sorry, but I cannot suggest any particular person for doing this work.

Miss Harriette—I should suspect that a person who arose every morning with a headache had liver or some other organic disturbance. The dark circles around the eyes would also indicate such a condition. Consult a doctor.

Miss R.—If you massage your scalp every day there will be less tendency to oiliness. An excess of oil shows a weakness in the glands. Massage so improves the circulation that it overcomes this trouble.

Santa Marie—If cocoa does not disagree with your digestion there is no reason why you should not drink it all the time.

Pat—I will glad to mail you the eyelash formula if you send a stamped addressed envelope.

Blue—Consult the doctor about this tendency to rashes and red spots on the skin.

Mary—From your description of yourself I should say that you are overweight. Doubtless if you dieted until you became normal the very full cheeks and double chin would disappear. The bust formula will be mailed you upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Elva K.—There are often many excellent suggestions given in the "Chats" on care of the scalp and hair, so if you read them regularly you will acquire all the necessary information. To remove dandruff massage oil into scalp the night before the shampoo.

Cucumber juice is a simple and handy bleach for complexion or hands.

Bobby—The practice of shaving the back of the neck is bad as the hair becomes more abundant and much coarser. Try clipping it, or let the hair grow longer and cover up some of the stray ends.

Rachel—When you purchase powder ask for the tint that suits your skin. Try a toilet water or witch hazel to relieve that flushing of the face in the summer time.

Annoyed—Extract the coarser hair on your chin by using a blunt end tweezers, and if any others show bleach them with peroxide.

Kay—The ammonia that is sold for household uses is not the same strength as that sold by the druggists.

Cotton Top and Just a Girl—The advice above to "Miss R." will solve your problems.

Miss M. S.—I think the eyelash tonic, for which I am glad to mail a formula, would improve those lashes even though they had been injured through burning.

Mrs. J. C. E.—The best hair tonic that I know of is the one for which I send out a formula, upon receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow—Toilet Implements.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

E. E. K.—"Here are two little hints which may help other women: When baking apples I always fill the center holes with brown sugar and a small piece of butter; and when stewing prunes I generally slice one small lemon into one pound of prunes."

Answer—Thank you. It is just these little things that the housekeeper finds helpful.

Mrs. N. M.—"I have two lovely parchment lamp shades which are badly out of shape. Can anyone tell me how to get them back into their original round shape?"

Answer—Let us hope that if any reader friend knows, she will drop me a postal telling how. I can then publish the information in this column.

A. N. C.—"How can I remove grease stains from a gunmetal-topped range?"

Answer—Beeswax is the only thing I know of that will thoroughly clean gunmetal.

Housewife—"Kindly advise me how to make a braided rag mat—how wide to cut the strips, what colors to use and how to construct the rug?"

Answer—You did not say what kind of rags you intended to use—cotton or wool. But I shall assume you meant cotton. (Although a wool mat wears longer.) Old table linen or cotton sheets are excellent to use, for they can be dyed the desired color. I personally favor a gray and old-rose combination, or a gray and old-blue. Cut your strips two inches wide and double lengthwise, folding in the extreme edges (so there will be no ravelling). Crease and begin to braid three strands of these folded strips. Or, if you prefer, you can braid five strands of them. Sew this braid round and round from the center. A pretty pattern is obtained by braiding the two colors for the center part, then changing to all gray (or all rose) strands for several rows, then returning to a mixture of the two colors—and so on until the rug is the desired size.

Mrs. C. C.—"How can a jelly roll be rolled without breaking?"

Answer—Have a sheet of brown paper under the cake, and keep this paper pressed against the cake as you roll. There is a little knack about it, but the paper is the secret of success.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

PRINCIPLES OF CORRECT DIET—Con't

Vitamins No. II

Yesterday I told you how scurvy was controlled and how beri-beri—that terrible inflammatory nerve disorder of the people of the Orient who lived on a restricted diet of polished rice—was proved to be a disease caused by deficiency in the diet due to the lack of some vital element which was removed with the polishings of the rice.

In 1911 Cassimere Funk announced that he had been able to isolate this substance in the rice polishings in an approximately pure state. He gave it the name of beri-beri vitamine. He thought the element was an amine, one of the elements of protein, and he used the vita as the fore part of the name as an indication of how vital these elements are.

About the time Funk was doing this work on beri-beri, Holst and Frolich of Christiania thought that if beri-beri could be produced in mammals as well as fowls, more could be learned to prevent the disease in the human race, and they began experimenting on guinea pigs. They put them on a diet of polished rice, which was now known to develop beri-beri in fowls and man, and made the interesting and momentous discovery that guinea pigs, instead of developing symptoms of beri-beri, developed symptoms of scurvy! They also found that even if whole grains—which would protect against beri-beri—were fed the animals, they still had scurvy.

These experiments verified the clinical experience that scurvy was a deficiency disease. And they further showed that scurvy was due to a lack in the diet of certain elements which were different from the elements necessary to protect against beriberi.

In 1905, five years before Funk gave his report and called this unknown element vitamine, Hopkins, an English investigator, had found from his experiments that animals fed chemically purified foods—carbohydrates, fats, proteins and mineral salts—no matter in what proportions, did not thrive but would soon die. He said: "The animal body is adjusted to live either upon plant tissues or other animals, and these contain countless substances other than carbohydrates, fats, proteins and mineral salts." His experiments showed that some vital living element was killed in the chemically purified foods.

Hopkins found that if he fed the animals a small amount of milk with the purified foodstuffs, the animals would grow. He found that certain vegetables had the same vital elements as the milk, only in a lesser degree. He called these vital elements "accessory food factors." Other investigators called them "food harmones." But those terms did not imply how vital they are, and the word vitamine which Funk gave them later, even though it was a misnomer, became popular both with the research workers and the public. It is being retained now with the final e dropped, leaving the word vitamin, which does not carry the implication that they are amines.

Zeropthalmia.—After the Norwegian investigators demonstrated that experimental scurvy could be produced and cured in animals, another disease was found to be a deficiency disease. Osborne and Mendel, American investigators, found that a characteristic eye disease called zeropthalmia, or simply opthalmia or conjunctivitis, would develop in their experimental animals which were fed upon a diet lacking in certain fats. The lids become puffy and swollen and the conjunctiva would be inflmed even to the point of ualceration.

They found that when butter fat was added to the diet it would prevent the disease and would also cure it. Further experiments showed that cod liver oil would prevent the disease as well as the butterfat, but that lard or vegetable oils did not do this. Here, evidently, then, was a vital element soluble in certain fats which was necessary to protect against certain eye diseases.

GIFTS FOR THE SICK

Operations are so much the style nowadays that there are few of us who do not at one time or another go to the hospital to visit some friend or relative who is convalescing.

And as empty hands on such occasions are becoming less and less the style, the question usually arises, "What shall I take?" Or, perhaps, one is obliged to make one's visits by proxy, and then it is "What shall I send?"

The first thought is generally flowers. Very good. But what flowers?

Roses seem to be the commonest choice. But, not, to my mind, the best. Roses are luxurious and lavish. They show you did not stint expense. But roses have a heavy fragrance that clogs—though sweetly—the air of the room. And roses fade more quicksick room. And roses fade more quickly than any other flower. Unless you have reason to think the patient loves roses best (and I have found by questioning, that many people do), try something else.

Cheerful and Durable

Something cheerful and lasting would be my suggestion.

A bunch of vari-colored carnations, gay, spicily rather than sickishly sweet, and exceedingly durable.

If it is spring, a cluster of daffodils or jonquils, the sunshine flowers. A beautiful bouquet was sent me not so long ago made of jonquils set off by two or three blue irises. The irises hovered above the jonquils like big blue butterflies.

Sweet peas, with their infinite variety of color, are always delightful.

In the fall the little many-colored chrysanthemums are a joy forever—or at least for six or seven days, if you take care of them.

Violets are always a particular delight to those who love them—and show me the woman who does not set special store by a bunch of violets with their never-failing reminiscence of courtship days.

A friend of mine had a standing order with a florist according to which the latter sends, when flowers are ordered, a box containing a fascinating profusion of whatever flowers are then in season. Lavish and correspondingly expensive, but delightful to receive.

Plants, especially if they have plenty of buds on them, and bulbs almost ready to blossom are even more of a joy than cut flowers, because they supply action as well as beauty, something to watch and take an interest in, a bonanza in the creeping hours of convalescence.

Books and magazines, when the patient has reached the stage where he can enjoy them, are often very welcome. But if you get books or magazines be sure the print is good. Eyes suffer from the general weakness.

A Letter a Real Gift

A letter full of pleasant talk and friendly gossip is a gift any convalescent loves to receive. It gives him something to think about in the hours he has to spend on his back.

A basket of fruit may be made as attractive as flowers and has an advantage over them needless to mention.

Any pretty accessory for invalidism, such as bed jacket or slippers, may be a more welcome gift than an expensive box of flowers, especially when others are sending flowers.

And if you live near at hand, you are in a position to please the patient mightily at small outlay. Take in something dainty from your own kitchen. In the best of hospitals the food grows tiresome, and the average convalescent's heart is very close to his stomach.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I am quite short, but not so terribly fat. It seems so queer that none of the fellows care for me. When I get acquainted with them or see them on the streets they all speak. I think it is queer they never care to take me home or make a date with me. I know girls who are much fatter than I am and they go out every week with some friend.

I am considered a very sweet girl and nice-looking. All the girls think it is funny I don't go out with anyone, but they blame it onto my mother. She doesn't care if I go with fellows. I know many married men who say that I must have a lot of boy friends. I try to be real pleasant to all. Please advise me what to do.

I love all my girl friends and try to do as much for them as I can and they all seem to like me except one or two.

TROUBLESOME GIRL.

The reason you are not popular lies with you yourself and not with your mother. If you were pursued by suitors and she refused to let you have company, it might be her fault. But since she is willing you should have company and no one comes it is ridiculous to blame her. You spend too much time comparing yourself with other people, judging them by their bad points and yourself by your good ones. Watch other people, by all means, and decide for yourself why certain ones are popular and others are not. You will see that there is reason for popularity—a pleasing personality, a gentleness of manner, beauty, a sympathetic nature, cleverness. Also, there is reason for lack of popularity—conceit, mental laziness, an untidy person, crude manners, silliness, a mean disposition, lack of imagination, selfishness, deceitfulness. I have mentioned only a few good and a few bad points. Try to develop charm and a good character and you will certainly make friends.

Forget about boys for the time being and find other interests. Read more, work harder, learn to be sweeter at home and elsewhere. If you develop the right qualities your face will grow more beautiful as the years pass. But if you spend your time in self-satisfaction, wondering at the blindness of others for not appreciating you, the message your features will carry will not be winsome.

My answer will probably seem harsh. But not knowing you, I have to look on the dark side of your problem and give all sorts of disagreeable possibilities merely as suggestions of what might be wrong. Perhaps you are merely young and undeveloped and later you will enjoy greater popularity. It is not always the popular young girl who marries.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fourteen years of age, and am good friends with a boy who stays with his sister. This boy likes me and I like him. There is another girl in this town who is very jealous of me and she isn't very well liked. I have often talked to this boy's niece and to him and they both say he does not like the other girl. What would you advise me to do, drop the boy or tell the girl that he does not like her? He is always joking with me, but when he sees her he turns up his nose and won't pay any attention. Do you think he likes her better than me? JEAN.

The fact that another girl is jealous of you is no reason to give up the friendship of a boy you like. Neither should you go to the girl and tell her that he does not like her. Simply pay no attention to her jealousy and do not talk about the matter to anyone. It is small to make a fuss over another person's jealousy and to do so would make the boy like you less. From all you say he seems to like you better than the other girl.

Timely Views of World Topics

"CRAVE FOR FUR FOR FASHION SPELLS DOOM OF PROFESSOR

The animals of the vertebrate kingdom are threatened with extinction as the result of the scramble for their furs, hides and even their bones to be used in fertilizer, says the annual report of the American Museu of Natural History in explaining the reason for pressing to a successful conclusion expeditions now being maintained in many parts of the world.

"The reason that certain of our expeditions are being pressed so hard at the present time—especially in Australia and Southern Asia, Mongolia and Polynesia—is that the natural life and beauty of the world are vanishing with almost incredible rapidity, both among the native races of men and of mammals on land and sea," reports Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the museum. "Unless we secure the records of these native races now, we shall never secure them, because they will have vanished completely. Unless we secure these mammals now, our future exhibition halls of Asia, of Australia and of certain parts of Africa will be incomplete."

Professor Osborn quotes from a report which says:

"Nothing in the history of creation has paralleled the ravages of the fur and hide trade, which, with the bone fertilizer trade, now threatens the entire vertebrate kingdom. The legitimate use of furs for protection in cold weather has long since passed. Furs are now a fashion, just as feathers were thirty years ago. The trade has passed almost entirely into the hands of people of Oriental and Asiatic origin. Millions of dollars are spent annually in advertising. Furs are worn in midsummer purely for ornament and personal adornment, or to make a display of wealth and luxury.

Hopes to Check Fashion's Ravage

"The final cause of the close of the Age of Mammals can be arrested only through the creation of sound sentiment and education of children and of women in the same manner in which the National Association of Audubon Societies has arrested the destruction of birds. But such a movement will be extremely difficult because the fur trade all over the world offers opportunity for money making, with very little effort and with no risk of life."

ings and with her little family followed the rainbow of her dreams to Glendale.

After supporting her children by nursing for a few months, during part of which interval she was obliged to collect her salary in advance, she was overjoyed to receive a check for $250 from her father as a birthday gift. She saw an opportunity and paid down the entire sum to obtain a lease on a house on Howard street just west of Ventura road.

By carefully watching the nickels and dimes, Mrs. Anderson was able to save enough to furnish one room. She soon had a patient under her care. After more rigid economy she furnished a second room and took in a second patient. From thenceforth her popularity steadily increased until before long the entire building had been furnished and occupied by those who had learned to trust in her care.

When the lease on this institution expired, Mrs. Anderson managed to purchase it on favorable terms. The rise in local realty values enabled her to sell it at a profit which she immediately reinvested in the former Golden West Sanitarium.

Thornycroft Sanitarium is an institution of which Glendale has reason to be proud. Until recently it was the home of sixty ex-service men who were disabled in the World War.

Occupying five acres on the southeast corner of Adams street and Windsor road, the Thornycroft property is notable for its beautiful shade trees, its inviting lawns, its beckoning vine-clad arbors in which the joyful trill of feathered songsters is almost constant, and its alluring flower beds. Sheltered by the tree-clad hills to the south and east, its attractive grounds welcome both sick and well to soothing repose.

Thirty-Three Cottages

Around the north and east sides of the beautifully landscaped central portion of the property are thirty-three cottages ranging in size from one to three rooms. Each includes a sleeping porch, where the strengthening air has free access; a bathroom, closet and living room, where a private nurse may make her headquarters. Each cottage is attractively furnished in harmonious color schemes which radiate cheerfulness.

The two-story administration building, which is located at 1100 East Windsor road, is surrounded with landscaping which adds much to the beauty of its exterior. The dining room, which will accommodate sixty-five persons, occupies the northwest corner of the first floor. Numerous windows admit plenty of sunshine. The kitchen, with its automatic dish-washer and steam dryer, has one of the most efficient equipments in Southern California.

The main parlor of the institution is located upon the second floor of the administration building. This is luxuriously furnished with wicker and mahogany furniture. Nearby is a small kitchen where refreshments may be prepared for afternoon teas. Adjoining on the west side is a large sun parlor equipped with numerous comfortable lounges. Along the north side of the building is a balcony porch which commands a superb view of nearby hills.

The one-story hospital building, 135 feet long by about fifty feet wide, faces Adams street and, like other units of the institution, has been beautified by its natural surroundings. Through the middle of the building runs a broad corridor with a sound-deadening runner of matting. Upon either side are the guest rooms, which are twenty-eight in number. French doors from each room open upon sheltered porches which extend the entire length of the building on both each and west sides. These are thatched with wistaria vines.

Each room is attractively furnished and contains a regulation adjustable hospital bed, dresser, table and electric heater. Adjoining is a private bathroom and a spacious closet. The interior finish is of white, which makes it possible for the interior to be kept spotlessly clean.

Separate hydrotherapy rooms for men and women are equipped with all necessary equipment for the administration of mineral baths and Swedish massage, which has been found so beneficial in rheumatic and kindred cases.

Mrs. Allie Taylor Anderson is quite proud of her new dominion and states that it is an enduring monument to the artistic taste of its founder, Mrs. Nan Maxon Miller.

Mrs. Anderson holds active membership in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, the Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

BURBANK

MOTHERS MEET WITH DAUGHTERS

Hold Social Gathering at Methodist Church; Class Elects Officers

The Mothers' and Daughters' banquet was held at the Methodist church last night and proved to be a delightful event, well attended and long to be remembered.

Among the local organizations to attend in a body was the Girl Scouts, each patrol providing their own place cards and table decorations.

A varied program of talks, interspersed with musical numbers, was enjoyed.

Chapter P. of P. E. O. was entertained at a luncheon yesterday at the beach home of Mrs. McClintock, at Santa Monica.

The Memorial services held Sunday night, in the auditorium of the Thomas A. Edison school building, and presided over by Rev. L. G. Parker, proved particularly inspiring.

The principal address was delivered by Rev. E. A. Main.

Special music was rendered by the High School orchestra, while Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Fischer rendered vocal numbers.

Those present in bodies included the American Legion Post, Company 1, of the G. A. R., the W. R. C., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls.

The auditorium was crowded.

Class Names Officers

The Anchor class of the Methodist Sunday school elected the following officers at their last meeting: Mrs. George Rummel, president; G. M. Fainot, vice-president; Mrs. Line, secretary; and George DeForrest, treasurer.

Mrs. May Clarke and Miss Diss have been named delegates from Burbank's Business and Professional Women's club, to attend the convention to be held at San Diego the last three days of June. The president of the local organization, Miss Lesueur, was appointed ex-officio delegate.

The Burbank Grove of Druids are making plans for a home of their own. P. Romeo, who organized this lodge some four months ago, has purchased a lot fifty by 150 feet, at 206 Tujunga avenue, of which lot he has sold twenty feet to Charles Motta.

It is Mr. Motta's intention to house on this lot his barber shop.

Mr. Romeo says he hopes soon to commence work on the remaining thirty feet of the lot, construction of a two story building, at least 100 feet deep, the second story of which will be made into a hall to house the Druids.

The Sunset Canyon Country club, under the management of T. H. Bridges, secretary and general manager, is gradually getting on a self-supporting basis and gaining popular esteem, as indicated by the increasing number of members and friends visiting the grounds, and as shown by the recent financial statement.

Already $20,000 of overhead has been eliminated without impairing efficiency in the slightest, Mr. Bridges points out. This has been accomplished by eliminating from the payroll a number of high salaried offices and wiping off several unprofitable concessions.

"The club house is at present engaged practically every night of the week," says Manager Bridges, "indicating clearly the growing popularity of this ideally situated clubhouse."

THAT MORNING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on this woman's testimony.

Mrs. J. M. Derr, 757 Earlham St., Pasadena, Cal., says: "The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was backache. When I first got up in the morning, there was a lameness and soreness through my kidneys and across my loins, but after I had been on my feet awhile about the house, the pain eased up a little. I was extremely nervous and became easily excited. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and one box cured the backache and the nervousness left me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Derr had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

EAGLE ROCK

PLANS INCREASE ON FIRE HOUSE

Eagle Rock Quarters to Be Enlarged; Children's Party Is Enjoyed

The present quarters of the Eagle Rock fire department will probably be built onto in the near future, to accommodate the fourteen men the department will have after June 5.

This statement was made by Battalion Chief C. B. Casey of District No. 2, the Los Angeles fire department, who yesterday visited Lieut. E. W. Welty of the department, in charge of the Eagle Rock station.

"This station will be known as Engine No. 42," said Chief Casey, "and will have one of the finest combination trucks in the city."

Chief Casey was gratified to find everything had been quiet in the Eagle Rock department since May 17, when this department was taken over by Los Angeles.

Society Notes

The regular monthly dance of the Women's Twentieth Club was held Saturday night, May 26, at the Women's clubhouse, Gay's orchestra furnishing the music.

The hostesses were Mesdames E. F. Nair, C. W. Hunt and L. M. McKelvey.

A delightful evening was enjoyed.

The members of the cast of "Clarence" enjoyed a picnic Sunday, May 27, at Santa Monica canyon, with Mrs. Fischer as guest of honor.

Members of the orchestra and friends of the players were present.

A picnic was held Saturday, May 26, at Brookside park, by members and friends of the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church Sunday school. Numbers of children enjoyed with the adults a fine outing, many games and sports being played.

The following are the new officers of the West End Parent-Teacher Association: Mrs. S. B. Osborne, president; Mrs. W. S. Gregory, vice-president; Mrs. C. W. Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Harris, treasurer, and Mrs. Algie, historian.

Jolly Party

A jolly children's party was given recently by Mrs. E. P. Ranson of 834 Rock Glen avenue, Eagle Rock, when she celebrated the eighth birthday of her daughter Iris. She was assisted by Mrs. George Hallett of Glendale.

The children enjoyed the afternoon with games and music, and late in the afternoon they were gathered about a beautifully decorated table for the birthday luncheon.

Sweet peas and bachelor buttons expressed a pink and blue color scheme. Little girl figures were the place cards, and at each place there was a special favor.

Before Iris' place was the large pink and white cake, lighted by eight candles.

Seated about here were Louise Vorwerk, Bobby Gralinger, Betty Jackson, Margaret Early, Roberta Wise, Lorna Wermigk, Mary Tureno, Mary Louise and Edith May Hallett.

John Stephen McGroarty will be the guest of honor at the next program given by the Women's Twentieth Century Club, the afternoon of June 14, at the clubhouse, announces Mrs. Alice Winters, chairman of the day.

The Eagle Rock chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held a card party last Wednesday night, which a number of Masons attended. A dance is planned by the O. E. S. for Saturday, June 2, with Mesdames W. E. Sexton, A. R. Rose and C. E. Spencer as hostesses.

There will be a few tables reserved for cards, they announce.

Food Sale Today

The O. E. S. circle are holding a cooked food sale today at the Eagle Rock office of the Glendale Evening News, 113 East Colorado boulevard, with Mrs. Hal Baly in charge.

Pies, cakes, salads, meat loaf, macaroni and many other delicious edibles will be on sale, starting at 11 o'clock in the morning and continuing until stocks are sold out.

The proceeds will go into the fund the women are raising to help erect a new Masonic temple in Eagle Rock, Mrs. Baly states.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cloud of Eagle Rock were the Sunday dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of Glendale. Rev. Norton is a Civil War veteran and patriotic instructor of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R.

W. E. Sexton of 810 Belleview avenue broke his arm Saturday, May 26. He is reported as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

"Plant dahlias for the great Dahlia Show in October—and plant extras, to give away," says Mrs. C. W. Young.

Fear less to be double-crossed than to cross your own path.

SUNLAND

URGE ACTION ON CHILDREN'S HOME

Monte Vista Lodge Under Discussion; Need for Financial Support

A meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce hall under the auspices of the Chamber, to take action on the question of what is to be done with Monte Vista Lodge, the home for children that is at present operated by the Community Social Service of Los Angeles.

The Service has offered the property to the county, if they will take it off their hands and assume the mortgage, which amounts to about $4000.

The Lodge was built by popular subscription and has been maintained partly by subsequent donations and partly by charitable organizations and the Community of Social Service. Some difficulty is being encountered in securing funds to properly conduct the home and the Community Service is willing to have the county take it over.

However, if the county took the property they would operate it as a tubercular sanitarium and home for feeble-minded children, which is not desired by the people of Sunland. The meeting was held to take a vote as to the desires of the people. A vote was taken and it was in favor of the county taking the property, but carried the proviso that the county should not operate it as a tubercular sanitarium, which automatically tabled the whole matter, as that is the only course the county would take, should they assume charge of the home.

Awarded Prize

At a recent butterfat test held by the Los Angeles county farm bureau the Hansen Heights cows took second prize in class E. The classes are decided by the size of the herds, and the tests are held every month. The milk is tested for purity and richness. Practically every dairy in Los Angeles county was entered in the test, and W. C. Lucas is proud of the showing his herd made against the large field.

Mr. and Mrs. Antone Szcuka have purchased the Schuette property and intend to make this their future home. The sale was made by A. J. Marsh. Mr. Szcuka is a chef of considerable note, and will have charge of the spread the Chamber of Commerce will place before the "hard-timers" who attend the dance on June 1.

It looks like a big night at Twin Pines tonight. James J. Jeffries, who is ex-heavyweight champion of the world, for the benefit of any stranger who might not recognize the name, has been invited to attend the boxing show and referee the main event. It is fully expected that he will accept. There will be five high-class bouts on tap.

It pays to keep the ICE chamber full
